The "Class" Act.

As the student body filed between the great cement columns at the entrance, there was a "Class"y feeling. Many classy changes were evident to the returning sophomores, juniors and seniors. To the incoming freshmen, the new appearances were absorbed as if always there.

Over the summer, a "Class"y paint job was applied to the halls and rooms of East. The halls were painted gray and the cafeteria, with its lobby, bore new black and red stripes around the entire area: new, "Class"y look for the Scarlets to see.

One particular new face passed throught the halls that have changed in looks, yet the "Class"y feeling was still there. Mr. Bill Carlson, a former East graduate and quarterback, returned to coach the Scarlet football team. He gave them a "Class"y look with new equipment and jerseys portraying "Lee Township."

The boys' basketball team was a preseason pick to be one of the best teams ever to grace East's gymnasium. They were ranked number 1 in the Des Moines Register's Class 3-A basketball poll, and rolled over Roosevelt in their Metro opener, 71-59.

The entire school rolled into the 1985-1986 school year like a steamroller with a new look, new faces, a solid sports program, and student involvement. That shows "Class." That's why East is "The 'Class' Act."

With a cafeteria full of people, juniors Angie Eyerly, Kerrie Brooks and Dawn Cameron dance at the first mixer of the year.

A "Class" Act

Kristy! To a sweet ☺ of a girl! Keep that special guy happy, And have a great Senior year! Get a nice Tan ok! I'll see you next when we are SENIORS!

"Class"y Acts

"Class"y Acts. Some nights it was homework all night long. Other nights it was at a basketball game with the senior Bermuda Boys, shown here illustrating the status of the boys' basketball team: Number 1. ROW 1: Dewight Roe, Brad Bellis, David Wright. ROW 2: Tim Stoll, Jeff Cronin, Jeff Brooks. ROW 3: Scott Torres, Brian Carico, Bill Jensen, Jim Van Cleave.

When there was not a sporting event, there was "Miami Vice." The music scene turned to the good old music of the fifties and the sixties. Whatever happened they were always "Class"y Acts.

Hallways fill with Homecoming Week spirit from students and teachers

Homecoming Week may very well be the most exciting week of the school year. From dressing as a nerd to dressing up as a punker, many Scarlets showed just how spirited they were. They dressed in either their favorite clothes or out-of-the-ordinary ones.

Monday, Oct. 21, began Homecoming Week and many students showed off their nerd fashions on Nerd Day.

Tuesday was T-shirt, Hat and Shades Day. Most people observed this day appropriately.

On Wednesday, students dressed up in their Sunday best clothes for Dress-up Day.

The"wild and crazy" people dressed in their weirdest clothes on Thursday, Prep and Punk Day.

Friday ended Homecoming Week with Spirit Day. Everyone wore red and black.

BELOW: As the cars and trucks are colorfully decorated, and the crowd is filling with excitement, the horn-honking begins and the Homecoming caravan heads out of Grandview Park to the game.

The newly crowned 1985-86 Homecoming Queen, Tiffany Rice, flashes a happy smile to the student body while junior attandant Missy Moore looks on.

Homecoming '85 puts mark on history

Excitement rose throughout the gym on Friday, Oct. 25, as Mr. Walt Kennedy, director of Student Government, tore open the envelope which contained the name of the 1985-86 Homecoming Queen. The words "The new 1985-86 Homecoming Queen is Miss Tiffany Rice" echoed through the quietness of the student body. As the 1984-85 Homecoming Queen alumnus, Natalie Justiniano, placed the crown upon Tiffany's head, the quietness ceased.

The Homecoming Dance was held Saturday, Oct. 26, from 8 to 11 p.m. in the large gym. This dance just like all others this year, proved to be a big success.

In 1960 Dixie Lovell was crowned the first Alumni Queen (the original name for the Homecoming Queen) which started the royal tradition. In 1985, the Silver Anniversary of the Homecoming Queen, Tiffany Rice will carry the silver spotlight until the year 2010, when East High will celebrate 50 years of having a Homecoming Queen.

A special thanks to the Student Government for a fantastic Homecoming '85. May this year be remembered by all.

Holiday spirit alive at Cloud Room; DJ provides music for festive 12-B

"Holiday," the 12-B theme, fit the spirit, attitude and festive attire of all those who attended this year's 12-B Formal. The dance was held at the Cloud Room in the Des Moines International Airport. The view from the oval Cloud Room included a brilliant glow of blue lights and an occasional airplane exiting down the runway.

Ticker tape, balloons and stars of bright assorted colors brought a warm and festive look to the Cloud Room. All 12-B hostesses took part in the decorating early Saturday morning at 7 a.m. They transformed the drab room into a colorful holiday forum ready for an evening of excitement.

At the dance, the ongoing traditions of 12-B were kept alive through the announcement of each hostess and her escort and with the presentation of the wine goblets to the hostesses and their escorts.

A few new flairs were added to the formal. Instead of tickets, the hostesses decided on invitations. The true idea behind being a hostess is that the hostess is entitled to invite any upperclassman that she wishes. Attendance at this dance is considered a privilege because the people at the dance were INVITED to attend.

In charge of organizing the formal was senior Julie Cort. Designers of the invitations and programs were seniors Laura Baker and Dawn Stevens. A special thank-you was extended to Mrs. Gwenn Copple, Spanish teacher. Without her organization and confidence, the dance would not have been such a success.

New look for old walls adds flair

East High received a new look last year. Starting in the spring of the 1984-85 school year, the old, dirty and drab walls of East High became shiny, colorful and sharp looking. The East High lockers, cafeteria and cafeteria lobby also received a new look. The lockers were painted a tan color, and the cafeteria and cafeteria lobby had new designs added to them.

The students and faculty of East took great pride in the new look for their school. Not only did students enjoy the new look, but they also took extra care in how they treated the school. As Mrs. Maxine Sinnard, cafeteria manager, said, "I think it was neat, and I feel the students did a great job keeping the newly painted cafeteria clean."

Many students felt the new designs also helped to boost East's image:

Rick Schmidt, senior: "It looks really nice and improves our image."

Randy Rollins, sophomore: "It looks great, and the colors in the cafeteria and cafeteria lobby add a lot of pride and spirit."

Russell Lane, sophomore: "It was really great for our school and it made it more interesting. I really liked it!"

Many students went by day by day and did not even notice the changes East had undergone. The addition to the cafeteria and cafeteria lobby are definitely a boost to our school's looks and creative image. As senior Robert Lyle said "The changes East has been through are made for the student body to enjoy. I feel the new paint makes the hallways and rooms look a lot newe and the designs in the cafeteria and cafete ria lobby really work to update ou school."

In another eight years the school will b painted more new colors. As the Class o '86 departs from East High, we hope th student body will take pride and care i their school. Everything done to East is fo the students and it is up to them to tak care of it!

Spinsters' Spree blooms roses, romance and fun

Reminiscing about the old-time romance period was the idea behind this year's annual Spinsters' Spree. Parasols, mansions, gazebos and riverboat cafes were a few of the old-time scenes enjoyed by many the evening of the Spree.

The Spinsters' Spree was held in the cafeteria on Feb. 8 from 8 to 11 p.m. "Roses and Romance" was the theme, with "Crazy for You," by Madonna, being the song. "Last Shades of Dawn" provided the entertainment. This year's Spinsters' Spree colors were festive ones of pink, burgundy and silver.

Spinsters' Spree is an annual event in which the girl has the opportunity to ask the gentleman of her dreams to accompany her to the dance.

Seniors Dawn Sanders and Rick Schmidt were chosen as Spinsters' Spree King and Queen.

Much hard work and dedication were put into the preparations of Spree by the Pep "E" Club Board and club members. A special thank-you goes to Mr. Larry Winegar and Mr. Russell Junck for the hard work they, too, put into the preparations for the 1986 Spinsters' Spree.

Mrs. Shirley Blenderman and Mrs. Elaine Peterson, sponsors of Pep "E" Club, said, "This year's Spinsters' Spree was a very big success. The atmosphere represented one of the most elegant Sprees East High has ever had."

Senior Tiffany Rice, vice-president of Pep "E" Club, said, "With the many ideas the board had, we were able to add a lot of new things to this year's dance. The dance was another successful one."

Seniors Tracy Clark and David Wright take time out during the annual Spinsters' Spree "Roses and Romance" dance to pose for a picture. Spinsters' Spree theme song was "Crazy for You."

Seniors Tom Kaut, Matt Fisher, Rick Dennis and junior Jennifer Johnston seem to be enjoying themselves during the annual Spinsters' Spree held Feb. 8 in the cafeteria. Spree was sponsored by the Pep "E" Club and is an annual event enjoyed by many. This year's dance ticket sales were approximately 300. Tickets were sold for $9 a couple and were generally bought by the girls.

Walking through the halls of East, you noticed the different styles of clothes among the students. Most of these styles were like that of the '60's, styles such as paisleys, flowers and plaid prints. Stirrup pants and miniskirts were other popular items. Other clothes that hit the halls were cropped jeans and pants with oversized shirts. Fresh man Tracy Slagle, sophomore Kim Heiting and junior Toni Burgett are wearing th latest fashions. These were just a few of the fashions of the 1985-86 school year at Eas

What's the latest in Fashion? Are we keeping up with the "new wave"?

At the beginning of the 1985-86 school ear, East High's hallways were swamped ith what is called "Fashion Phobia." Stuents were very choosey about their wardbes. Some of their wardrobes consisted of ild prints and oversized clothes. The girls ere usually dressed in flowered and paisy prints, stirrup pants and shaker sweatrs. Rhinestone jewelry and collar pins ere also popular items. The guy's wardbes were short but simple. Their wardbe was mostly oversized shirts, ties, aggy pants and trench coats. Jeans, nonogrammed sweatshirts and high-top nnis shoes were popular with the student ody, and the ever-so-popular Swatch atches were in great demand.

Students did other things besides perfectng their wardrobe. You could find some going out to see a movie. Some popular movies among the students were "Pee Wee's Big Adventure," "Back to the Future" and "Rocky IV."

Another popular pastime was music. Some of the students' favorite groups were Mr. Mister, Starship, Kiss and Dire Straits. Other popular groups that visited our area were Howard Jones, AC/DC, Tina Turner and Night Ranger. Some groups that had popular albums were Phil Collins, Sting and Tears for Fears.

Cabbage Patch Dolls were a popular item. You could buy sets of Cabbage Patch Dolls, or buy the dolls with glasses. You could adopt a Cabbage Patch Doll from Scotland, Russia or Spain. In spite of their outrageous price, students bought a great number of these cute dolls.

Showing East High's latest guys' fashions are juniors Foun Chan and Jeff Brown. The guys' clothes consisted most of the "punk style" fashions. These clothes were popular among the guys.

Weekends, night air cause fanatic actions, antics by East students

Something about weekends and the night air seems to stimulate East High students into doing wild and crazy things.

Friday, after school, there was a burst of energy from every student exiting the building to the weekend that was ahead. In the parking lot, one could have heard plans being made for that night or the next night, students honking horns with joy and students yelling loudly in celebration of being free of school and homework for two days.

Friday nights, for most of the student body, usually consisted of attending football games in the fall and basketball games in the winter. Afterwards, many students either went to a fast food place, such as McDonald's or Taco John's or went to hang out with the crowd, consisting mainly of underclassmen, at Hilltop, while still others chose to sit down and enjoy a pizza at Pizza Hut.

Saturdays were a different story. Most students enjoyed their opportunity to sleep in, while others got up bright and early to go to work. Senior Kellie Burns commented, "I had to get up at 4 a.m. every Saturday morning in order to be at work at 5:30 a.m."

As Saturday evening approached, the crazy antics began. If students weren't out on dates, they were either getting crazy at a party or causing havoc by "urban surfing" down quiet residential streets. Four guys in particular were the cause of the new sport of "urban surfing" in Des Moines. After seeing the movie, "Teen Wolf," starring Michael J. Fox, the previous night, which depicted the sport of urban surfing, seniors Tyler Roorda and Matt Fisher and juniors Dereck Lewis and Brad Hiatt decided to try it out. They were successful, but balance was a key!

Sundays, as everyone knows, were left for relaxation and the rush to finish the untouched homework assigned on Friday.

East High Drama Department, Silent Vibes make 'Sweeney Todd' successful

On Dec. 12 and 13 at 7:30 p.m., Ms. Ruth Ann Gaines and her Silent Vibrations class presented the fall play "Sweeney Todd" in the auditorium.

The East High Graphics Department made tickets, posters and programs to help promote the event. All proceeds went to the East High Drama Department.

"Sweeney Todd" takes place in San Francisco in the 1890's. Sweeney was played by senior Chet Sewell. The story is about an evil barber named Sweeney Todd who kills people for their money. Later the people who fall victim to Sweeney come back to haunt him. At the end of the play, Todd finds out that what goes around comes around and is jailed for the murders he committed.

Silent Vibrations met every day in room 15. There were 27 members. Class members use make-up, have to find their own costumes and use their own transportation. The class teaches teamwork and concern for others.

Everyone who participated worked very hard to make this year's fall play "Sweeney Todd" the success it was.

Emmett Butts, a senior who played the character Barnacle, said, "Ms. Gaines is a person who starts something and doesn't stop until it is finished. To be able to direct 27 people in a school play as she did takes a lot of time and concentration."

Following are the names of the cast a the roles they played: Melessia McAinic Rose, Chet Sewell-Sweeney Todd, R Conner-Mrs. Lovett, Richard Armstron Mr. Scruples, Terri Breton-Minnie, Bonn Mullin-Mrs. Meanly, Oran Lilly-Bill Sarah Holmes-Mrs. Noble, Am Soderquist-Mrs. Worthy, Jam Birkinbine-Honorable Mr. Chang, Cin Snow-Belle, Emmett Butts-Barnacle, Co Sewell-Lili Fairoak, Andy Elliott-Brookl Jake, Brent James-Policeman, R Lumbard-Sailor Tom, Michelle Stephen prisoner, Shelli Cave-Wido Fairoak, Car Davidson-Matron, Nikki LaMunyo police inspector; Citizens-Rick Collin Mary Dale, Chris Nath, Larry Rife, Vick Saeng, Brianetta Willis; Production Sta Ms. Ruth Ann Gaines-Director, Tamm Christensen-student director.

Junior Bonnie Mullin, senior Richard Armstrong, senior Chet Sewell. The fall play is about an evil barber named Sweeney Todd (Chet Sewell) who kills his customers.

Promising talent surfaces during Madrigal Dinner

On Dec. 4-5, the vocal music room of East High was beautifully changed into a castle depicting the renaissance era of the 1500's.

At 6 p.m., the hallways in front of the music room were filled with an excited audience participating in peasant fair games, such as bobbing for apples. Trumpets sounded at 6:30, telling the audience that the king was ready for them to enter. The people were amazed when they entered the candle-lit "English Castle."

The King (played by senior Kurt Anderson), the Queen (played by junior Stephanie Ripley) and the court made the dinner more exciting by getting the dinner guest involved. Turkey, potatoes, fruit and cheese were just some of the delicious items in the five-course meal.

A total of 28 chamber singers were involved. A royal orchestra, fanfare trumpets, serving girls, thieves and crooks—a total of 60 other participants—helped make the Madrigal Dinner a success. Some people who played important roles were junior Rob Pierick, who played the jester, juniors Dana May and Todd Hickey, the troubadours; Loren Deering, the wizard; and Shelley Betts, the witch.

On both nights the Madrigal Dinner was held, the hearts of 100 people were filled with excitement and joy.

Ms. Linda Chamberlin, vocal music teacher, sponsored the Madrigal Dinner, and by scheduling rehearsal after rehearsal, she made it the success it was. Even though preparing for the dinner took a lot of hard work and commitments, the students enjoyed the fun they shared together.

Senior Baron Randolph show off his great acting ability during a dress rehearsal as sophomore JoAnn Willis looks on. The Madrigal Dinner was held Dec. 4-5.

World: From Springsteen to Summit

In 1985, the planet earth rocked with natural and human disasters and rolled with Live Aid to the starving in Africa. Mid-East terrorists crushed the hearts of many in the world while William "Refrigerator" Perry (football player) stole them in America.

The year 1985 saw many disasters take many lives. An earthquake in central Mexico and a Colombian volcano killed over 45,000 people. Airplane crashes also took a record number of lives.

Farmers protested to the government for aid, and received it from Willie Nelson and friends, with Farm Aid. South Africa continued their Apartheid idiocy.

On the entertainment scene, Sylvester Stallone's "Rambo" graced the silver screen with blood and guns.

On Nov. 19, President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev talk in front of a fireplace at the Fleur D'Eau in Geneva, Switzerland. This was one of the many heart-to-heart talks Reagan and Gorbachev ha at the superpower summit.

A Delta Airlines jetliner crashed near Dallas, Tex., in August, killing 137 people. The plane was on a flight from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., to Los Angeles, with an intermediate stop at Dallas-Fort Worth. Thirty-four people survived the crash, but five died of injuries later. The plane encountered a severe wind shear as it plunged to th ground.

In "Class"

In "Class." In an average high school, being In "Class" may be boring, mind boggling, tedious and pointless. East High is not an average high school. Being In "Class" at East is challenging, dramatic, fun and adventurous. For example, how many high schools have a teacher who has pet guinea pigs in his classroom, such as our very own Mr. Ray Patrilla, biology teacher, pictured at left? How many teachers are there who swap recipes in the audio-visual room? Still, there are other teachers who have to be dragged screaming and kicking into the twentieth century.

The teaching styles are varied throughout East High School. To make the news game more interesting, a teacher designed a football field on the overhead. The class was then divided into two teams and tried to score touchdowns by answering questions about the past week's news events.

Whatever the teaching style is, East High is the place to be when one wants to be In "Class."

Student library assistants lend extra hands and minds to East High library

A library is a place for learning and studying. In order to have a peaceful atmosphere, the librarians were there to help students find what they needed. Mrs. June Kalsem, head librarian, and Mrs. Ann Hoehle, assistant librarian, were busy answering questions and finding materials for students. The East High library is one of the best libraries in Des Moines. The librarians asked interested students to become assistants and help keep it that way.

Before becoming a library assistant each person had to agree to and sign a contract that explained the responsibilities he or she was to undertake.

During each period, two of the 12 to 14 helpers checked books in and out, stamped new books, alphabetized cards, filed cards in the card catalog and deleted information from the computer. One student worked at the circulation desk and the other assistant worked at the magazine desk to help people find the magazines they needed.

Some students worked every day and othe worked on alternating gym days during th study halls. The assistants received one four credit per semester.

A librarian's work requires day-to-day conta with people. Students who used the library f comfortable with being helped by their pee Being an assistant wasn't all fun and games. Ea person gave all he could to make East's libra stay in "tip-top" condition.

Working in the library gave the students expe ence in how libraries are run. The importance the library lies in bringing the past, present, futu and enjoyment to everyone who uses it as resource.

Freshman Stacy Swaroff said, "The libra helpers are a valuable asset to the librarians, wh really have their hands full."

The library assistants were greatly needed a their help was appreciated by fellow students a teachers as well.

194 Applied Economics students learn about running of businesses and economy

"Hands-on experience." That is what Mr. Kenneth Stock, business education teacher, said helped contribute to the education of the members of his Applied Economics classes.

In the classes, students learned about our economic system and compared it with other systems. The class operated like a business. Wages, salaries, commissions, sales tax, corporate profit tax, products, charter applications, insurance and bank charges were some of the expenses involved in the functioning of the class.

The money made is for business purposes, and dividends were given to stockholders (students) and money to a selected charity.

There were 194 eleventh and twelfth graders enrolled. Mr. Bill Keck, president of Parking Inc., and also a member of the Board of Education, was one sponsor. Representatives from Firestone, the insurance company Holmes Murphy and Associates, Meredith Corporation, Aid Insurance and Bankers Life were sponsors.

The seven presidents of the seven classes were juniors Brenda Eenhuis and Mike Edwards and seniors Bob Monk, Melissa Morris, Kayceena Ray, Shawn Rios and Rick Schmidt.

Mathematics alive and kicking; equating, formulating differences in their opinions

Mr. Virgil Larsen tries desperately to explain to his math students how to complete a tough assignment.

Most high school students feel that all they need of high school math is their one required year. How wrong they are! Some students would rather sleep through study hall than take a class that could extremely benefit their future.

Mr. Alfred Willis, one of the most popular math teachers among the students, feels that the whole world revolves around mathematics, and that just about everything a person wants to do is in some way connected with math.

Recently the Iowa Science and Mathematics Grant program was begun to make students want to take more math and science courses. Up to $500 was granted to any Iowa student who had seven or more credits in math and science.

Senior JoAnne Zallek said, "I feel everyone should have at least two years of high school math. The more credits you have in math, the better your chances are of getting accepted to the college of your choice."

Not all students feel the same, however. Sadly enough, there are quite a few students who do hardly anything in their required math course. Just as long as they get a passing grade (anything above an F) they are satisfied and will neve enroll in another high school math course.

East has many available math courses tha range in difficulty from General Math (one of th easier math courses offered) to Calculus (the mos advanced math course offered at East). There wil always be a math course available that wil benefit everyone in some way. It is just a matte of getting the kids to get interested in math and t sign up for a course in it. A mass majority o students feel, however, that students should no be forced to take math in high school. Junio Cindy Ruttenburg said, "I feel all high schoo students should be able to have a choice abou how much math they wish to take, whether it b one semester or four years." Senior Chet Sewel commented, "Everyone should take at least on year of math and decide on his own if he wishe to continue or not."

Obviously East needs to perform a miracle. I needs to make math more interesting to student and not force them into an unwanted course.

Communications Media Department teaches students journalism, photography skills, knowledge

The Communications Media Department at East includes four major areas: journalism, photography, printing and television. These areas give the student a chance to explore the major mass media areas for possible career opportunities.

In journalism, taught by Mr. George Christian, students learned news writing, feature writing, headline writing, picture cropping and some basic layout styles. The journalism classes produced the Quill Yearbook and the Scroll Newspaper.

In photography, taught by Mr. John Lethcoe, students learned how to enhance their picture-taking ability, how to develop pictures, and how to make prints. Advanced photography students took pictures for the Quill and Scroll, and they took pictures of the major sports events, as well as the important assemblies, such as Homecoming.

The beginning printing students learned photo-conversion, plate-making, and basic layout and design. Printing was taught by Mr. Jeff Bock. The more advanced printers, mostly juniors and seniors, helped print the East High Scroll. Some other projects the printing classes did, involved printing the programs for assemblies and the school dances.

The television classes, instructed by Mr. Adrian Martin, taped television shows for educational use, and learned about the different types of equipment used in producing television shows. The students were often taped on television doing their own make-believe commercials, which looked really quite professional.

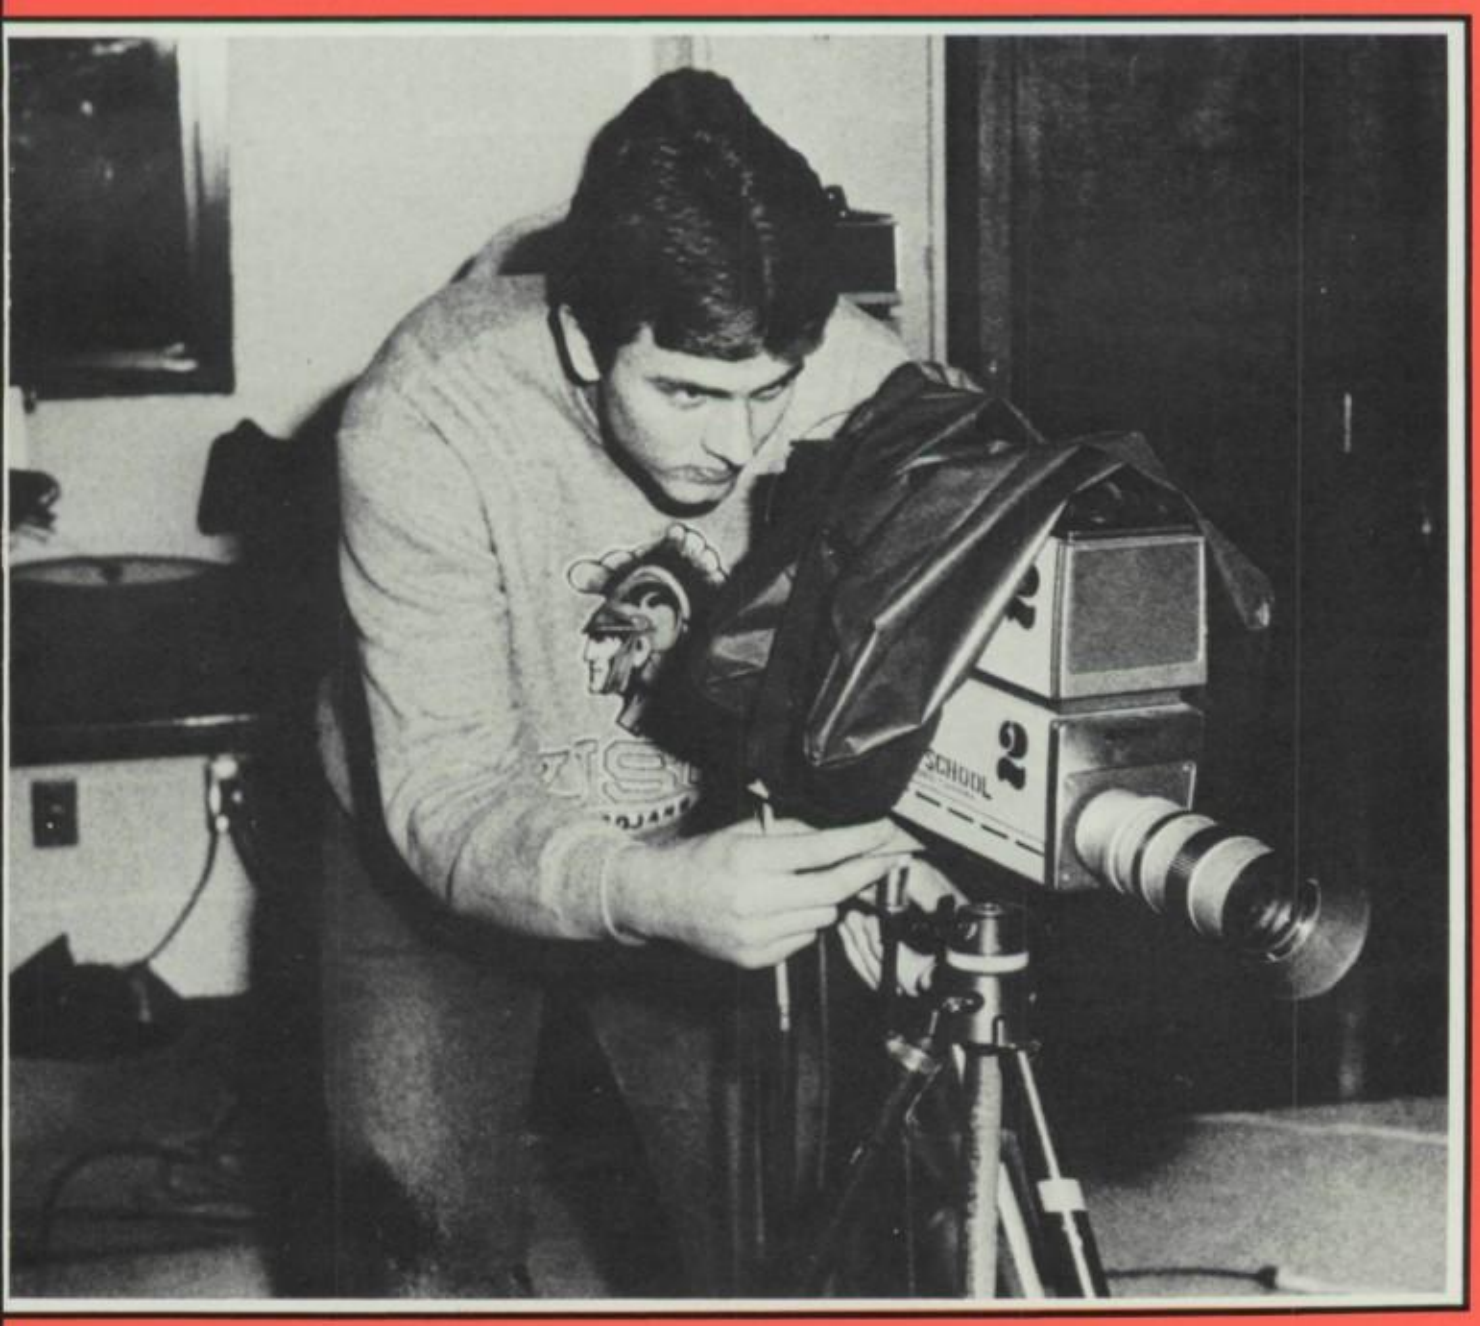
The four areas of the Communications Media Department worked closely together and depended on one another to carry out projects for the school, such as the Quill Yearbook and the Scroll Newspaper.

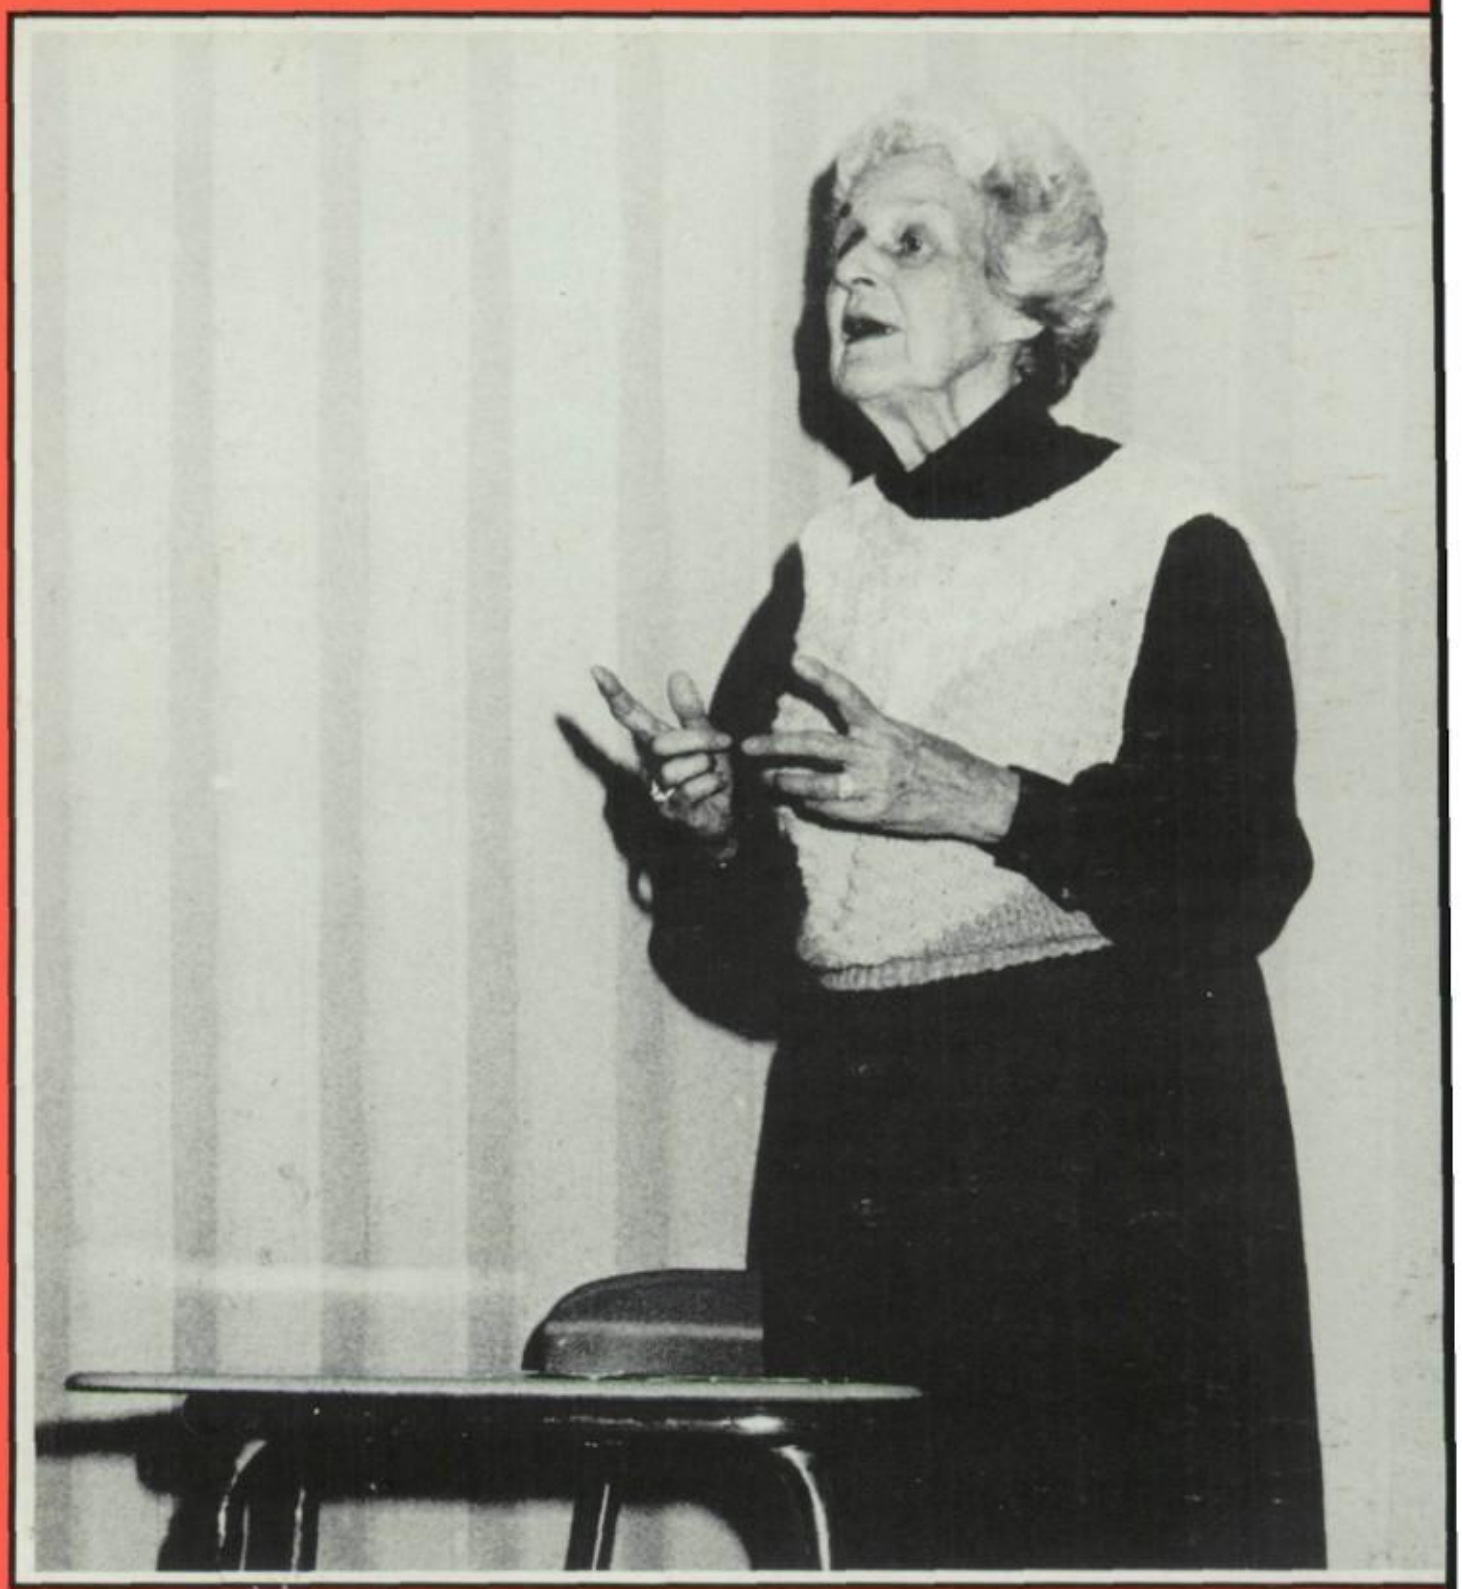
Mr. George Christian, chairperson of the department, said, "The most important thing a student can learn in high school is the ability to communicate: write, speak, read and listen well."

The Communications Media courses are highly recommended for any student who is interested in the areas described above. Students may obtain more information from one of the four teachers.

Junior Jill Anderson processes copy from a typesetter in Communications Media class. Mr. Jeff Bock is the teacher.

Junior Scott Baker prepares to capture a part of history on television for his TV Production class.





Mrs. Mary Louise Smith, who worked her way up from grass-roots politics, speaks to the government class.

Mary Louise Smith, an honored political activist, speaks to government classes

Mrs. Mary Louise Smith, a native Iowan and active woman in political affairs, spoke to the Government II classes on Nov. 14, 1985.

Mrs. Smith graduated from the State University of Iowa, where she majored in Social Work Administration. She has had a long career of public service in community, state and national affairs. President Gerald Ford asked her to become Republican Party Chairperson, and she did, serving from September, 1974, to January, 1977. She is the only woman ever to have held that position. She is actively involved in the women's movement and does a lot of writing and lecturing.

She emphasized getting involved in our govern ment. She said, "If you can't be a Republican, b a Democrat; be something!" She emphasized tha we are the leaders of the future.

When she was asked about the future of polit cal parties, she said that at present, the mobilit and affluence of our society has slightly weak ened both parties.

She believes that eventually we will see woman as President. She said, "Women ar breaking barriers. Politics has been a man' world, and still is, but I hope we have made som headway."

Industrial Arts provide challenging courses with possible careers for bright futures

Industrial Arts at East includes Auto Fundaentals, Home Remodeling, Exploring Industrial rt, Wood Fundamentals, Drafting and Metal hop.

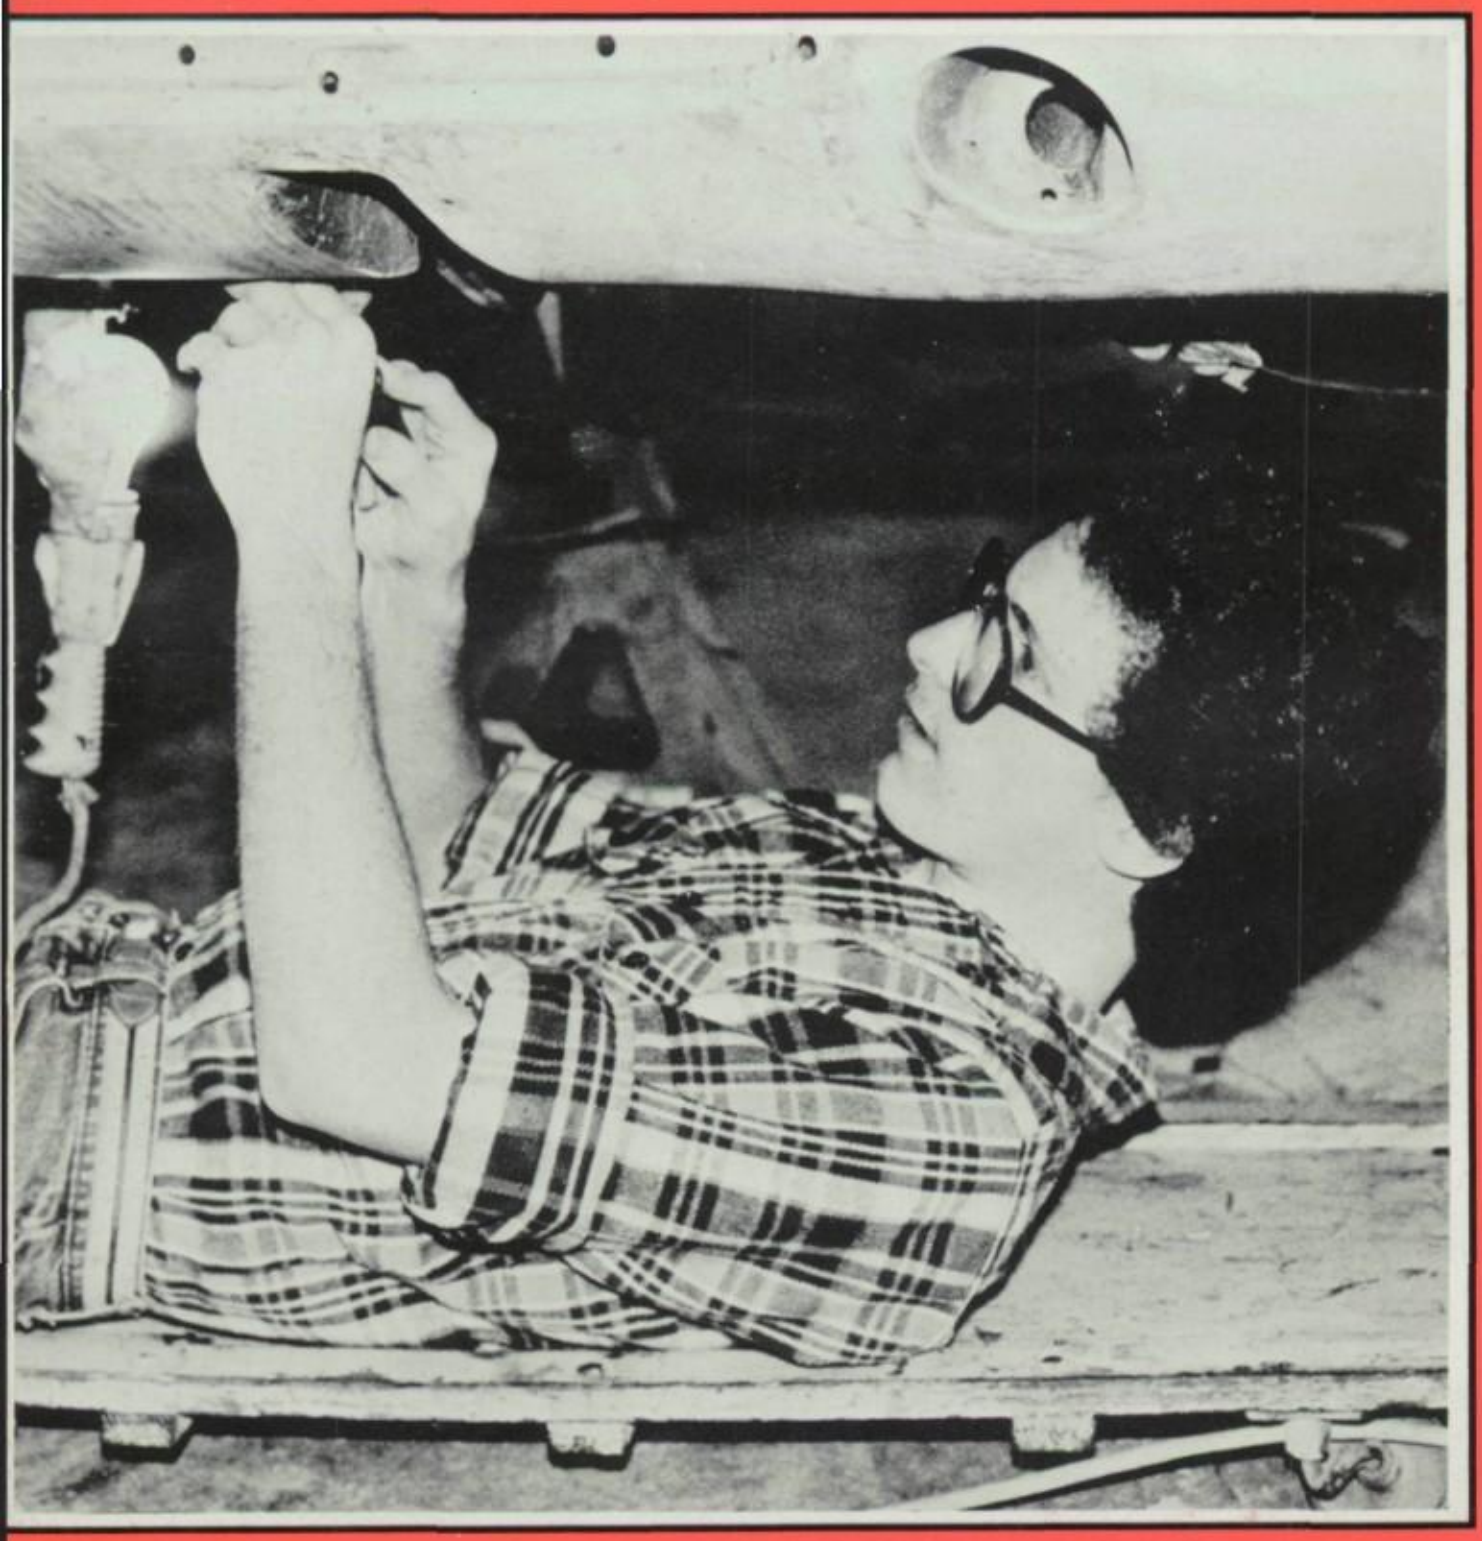
The average enrollment of all the classes was 2 to 24. They were good sized classes, yet still nall enough that individual attention to students as still possible. Teachers provided explanations f what these career fields had to offer.

In auto, students took part in restoring a orvette.

Mechanical Drawing gave students some basic ackground in using computers, such as the Commodore 64 for computerized design of layout ideas that could be moved around.

In Mr. Larry Winegar's woodshop class, three-horse routers, new power machines, overarm Scroller saws and other various tools were used. To supplement class work, students took a field trip to a wood mill.

The drafting course taught the fundamentals of architectural and engineering drafting. More emphasis was put on computer graphics, and future students will be taking more field trips to see first-hand what a drafting career could have in store for them.



Senior Mike Hausman has to keep a steady hand as well as steady eyes while working with this wood cutter.

Senior Mike Jarnagin spreads a little light on his knowledge of cars while getting hands-on experience.

The "Class"

The "Class." The "Class" was a very big class, with over 2,000 students, and the Freshman Class was the largest. The going was slow during the passing periods. The only easy time in the halls was before school. Leaning against the wall is junior Scott Winslow. In the hall are senior Don Harvey, juniors Brianetta Willis and Sara Conner, and freshman Merloren Butts. Trying to get into her locker is sophomore Tracy Logan.

Juniors

Class of 1987 led by students with experience

To lead a class, a person must have the skills it takes to be a leader. That is just what the Junior Class officers possess.

Brad Hiatt, president, was also president of his class his freshman year.

Kathy Adams, vice-president, is in her first year as a class officer.

Angie Eyerly, secretary, had the job of treasurer during her sophomore year.

For Kelly Cory, treasurer, this is her first year as a class officer.

Future Scrollers

. George Christian (publications adviser), lectures to beginning journalism class about writing a news story d. These juniors had to receive an A or B in sophomore glish in order to take journalism, and they are learning the basics in eleventh grade. ROW 1: Sandra Miguel, Kelly Cory, Beth Raymond, Leticia Parsons. ROW 2: Tricia Holtorf, Dawn Cameron, Don Robinson.

Juniors Rebecca McClurg, bottom left, and Debbie Vignaroli, top left, talk to a college representative about possible future plans and sign up for more information. Deciding on which college to go to is a tough decision for most juniors to make.

Involvement: Sophomore officers tell of activities

Jeff Stickel, president of the Sophomore Class, was also on the football team. He previously was president of the Freshman class and enjoys the challenge.

Kim Heiting, vice-president, is in her first year as an officer. She is involved in Spanish Club, volleyball and softball. Matt McClelland, secretary, was on the wrestling team and also escorted Susan Murrow in the Homecoming Assembly. This is his first year as an officer.

Ray Booker, treasurer, is also in his first year as an officer. He runs on the cross country team and is looking forward to the new track season. He feels it is an honor to be chosen as a class officer. The Sophomore Class officers had a great year.

Money at last! Sophomores get jobs

Finally, the parents got their prayers answered: the little darlings got jobs. While some students get jobs because they want extra money, others get jobs just for the enjoyment of meeting new people. But all the same, there's money to spend on all the stuff parents won't buy, like, for girls, "tons of clothes." For guys it's money to take their girl friends out with. And although you may spend a lot, it always seems to have gone for a good cause. Shown above is Darlene Buchholz at work cleaning the floor. T was a common scene for many sophomores because they didn't want to hassle th parents for money because they liked the feeling of being at least somew independent.

Sophs show their spirit with links

Sophs enjoy new adventure of dating ophomores Jeff Stickel and Angie Silver are pictured re in a romantic moment on their first date. Sophores like to go out to eat, and afterwards see a movie. n evening such as this is likely to cost a sophomore $20 or more, depending on the restaurant. Fast-food restaurants are especially popular with sophomores because of the low cost; for example, Hardee's and Wendy's.

Soph's big day: Choosing first car ophomores Tom Stoll and Jason Pierick look confused but excited about which car

buy. Most sophomores look for cars that are sensible and economical, because getting a car means spending money on gas and repairs. The advantage of having a car is the freedom to travel.

Frosh

Freshman officers show leadership

Every year four special Freshmen Class officers are elected to represent their class. The officers were involved in many school activities. They demonstrate a lot of hard work, leadership and responsibilities. The main goals of the Freshman Class officers were to get their fellow classmates acquainted with the school functions and involved in school-sponsored activities.

President Walter Humphrey was involved in football, wrestling and track. He liked getting involved and encouraged other students to get involved, also. Walter came from Hoyt Transitional School. He liked spending his free time with friends, and watching television.

Vice-president Jason Dalbey took part in basketball and baseball. He liked the challenge, excitement and meeting people, which the opportunity of being a class officer brings with it. Jason got a lot of support from his parents, who also went to East. He commented, "Get involved as much as you can and you will meet friends." Jason went to Hiatt Transitional School. He was involved as a Hiatt Helper, as a physical education leader and as a member of the soccer team.

Bill Reed, secretary, said, "I liked making decisions, being responsible and representing my classmates." Bill was involved in basketball, football and baseball. He went to Goodrell Transitional School l year and participated in basketball a baseball. Bill liked to spend his free ti bike riding and working on his comput When asked what the big difference w from the previous year, he comment "The size of the school, stricter rules a tons of homework!"

Todd Thompson, treasurer, participat in basketball and football. Todd liked bei recognized by his classmates. He found hard to get to class on time because of t crowded hallways. Todd went to Hoyt l year.

ook, Ma-no feet!

eshman Scott Johnson tries to get to class on time so that his acher won't yell at him and make him stay after school and make up time, or have to be sent to the office and get in trouble with his adviser, or worse, with his parents, over nothing but a simple tardy.

Many misguide frosh

Seniors Diana Oliver, Kelli Pugh and Jake Whipple give various directions to freshman Kevin Gogerty. With an over-abundance of freshmen, upperclassmen gained another responsibility in guiding lost freshmen to their various classes. Some upperclassmen took advantage by confusing and misguiding freshmen to many different areas of the building. Adjusting well, the Freshman Class now walk the halls with getting lost and being made confused by upperclassmen who like to take advantage the situation. Because of their experiences, freshmen know one of their upperc duties beginning next year: misguiding incoming freshmen.

Visiting 'Royalty'

n the tradition of Prince Charles and Princess Diana, freshman Jason Dalbey visits East High's own form of "Royalty," Vice-principal Don Powell. The visit to the ice-principal's office is surely only one of the many highlights in every freshman's igh school adventure. Here Jason Dalbey is lucky enough to be included on Mr. Powell's exclusive "guest" list. Mr. Lloyd Klinzman, vice-principal, Mr. Gary Eyerly, vice-principal, and Mrs. Barbara Prior, principal, are other members of East High's "Royalty."

BCC provides treats

Freshman Laurie Rogers flashes her required BCC (Building Climate Committee) card and a bright smile as she purchases a peanut butter cookie before school. If you weren't hungry, or didn't like peanut butter, chocolate chip cookies, milk and orange juice were available. Last year anyone could go to the cafeteria for breakfast, but this year students had to be members of the Breakfast Club and have a card in order to participate in the new program. In 1986-7, be sure to get involved in the BCC, a you too can enjoy the early morning delicious and nutritious goodies like so ma other smart students did this year. Don't beg your mom for breakfast next year; eat school.

Rowley amazed by hundreds of books

Freshman Steph Rowley seems to be crying out for help when she discovers just how many books the library actually has. There appear to be at least a hundred books on the subject she is researching. Faculty

Prior running fourth year with success, pride

As principal, Mrs. Barbara Prior was the chief liaison officer of the school. It was her duty to keep a smoothly operating unit of administration, teachers and students.

Pursuing her goal of academic achievement, she coordinated the academic letter project. Enabling students to letter for their grade point averages motivated them toward increased studying and better grades. She felt that the students were proactive and had a spirit that showed through in their high level of involvement in school activities. For example Pep "E" Club was the largest it's ever been. She said, "The students here are excellent and the BEST anywhere!"

Beaming an enthusiastic smile, Principal Barbara Prior delivers a spirit-filled speech at the Homecoming 1985 assembly. She emphasized the unity of the school and the support that we, as future alumni, will be proud to give. The Quill Staff would like to gratefully acknowledge their appreciation of the hard and dedicated work that Mrs. Prior has done.

"Class" Action

"Class" action. East High was big on organizations. A good portion of East High's organizations were in action long before school began in August. There were very few students who were not involved in one way or another.

One of the many organizations at East was the Mimes. Saying "hello" to the camera are seniors Terri Cook, Richard Armstrong, Rick Lumbard and Emmet Butts.

A typical meeting for the Student Government started at 7:30 in the morning. Pictured here are seniors Rick Schmidt, Dawn Sanders and Jeff Brooks. Looking over their shoulders is senior Mike McClelland. Mr. Walt Kennedy was Stud Government adviser.

'85-'86 Student Government activates an action-packed, fun-filled school

More student participation and more student-oriented activities. These were Student Government's two main goals for the 1985-86 school year, and the group sponsored more activities than ever. Student Government helped organize Homecoming, a computer dance, the football jamboree, the canned-food drive, two chili suppers and four mixers. The money that was raised from these affairs was given to the school.

Asked what he thought about Student Government, senior Jeff Cronin said, "They have done a lot more this year for East than past Student Governments have."

"In a school the size of East High, there are a lot of events the students can take part in; everyone should be active in his high school experience," commented Mr. Walt Kennedy, sponsor of the Student Government.

In the first semester, Student Government was made up of four students from each class. In the second semester a fifth person from each class was elected as an alternate in case someone could not attend a meeting. These students were the "Senate." The Senate is elected by the student body, as were the officers.

The first semester officers were Tracie Moore, president; Brian Carico, vice-president; Mindy Anderson, secretary; Mike Pavon, treasurer. In the second semester, Paula Bebensee was treasurer, while the other officers held the same offices as they did first semester.

The student body was encouraged to attend the meetings, express their ideas and participate in events.

"You'd better be good for goodness sake." Seni Mike "Bruce Springsteen" McClelland sings a favori Christmas song at the Christmas assembly.

Face to face with deadly deadlines

Deadlines. That's one word that the 1985-86 Quill Staff learned the definition of very fast. If it weren't for deadlines, you probably wouldn't be holding this book right now.

It all started at the end of the 1984-85 school year when that Quill Staff chose the students that they wanted for editors. They chose Scott Denhart, senior, as editor. His assistant editors were seniors Kelly Heathcote and Brian Delk. The rest of the staff was led by these seniors and the publications adviser, Mr. George Christian.

Every Quill Staff is made up of juniors and seniors who received an "A" in sophomore English. They start out the year with their first assignment, two adjoining pages, or a "spread." Usually this spread is part of the People section, better known as "Journalism camp helped me to get a lot of new ideas for this yearbook. It was a valuable experience in writing, layout and picture design."— Kelly Heathcote, senior, co-editor.

"the terrible ID's." ID pictures are sorted, put into alphabetical order and then labeled. Every name must be checked, double-checked and triple-checked before it can be sent to the printers. Copy must be written, pictures must be cropped, interviewing must be done and everything must be correct. It is up to the Quill Staff to make sure that every group and school activity is properly placed in the yearbook.

In the summer of 1985 the editors attended a summer workshop camp for yearbook editors at Iowa State University. Kelly Heathcote, senior, had this to say about the workshop: "Journalism camp helped me to get a lot of new ideas for this yearbook. It was a valuable experience in writing, layout and picture design." Next year's editors will be chosen by this staff as soon as all pages are sent to the printers.

Scott Denhart, Editor

Kelly Heathcote, Asst. Editor

Brian Delk, Asst. Editor

Seniors Shawn Boers and Pam Wilson are pictured cropping pictures. Cropping is the process of making a picture fit the layout. Often times the staff member had to find different pictures because the pictures they chose would not fit the layout, which sometimes was very frustrating.

Senior Tammy Peterson interviews Principal Barbara Prior for her pages. Interviewing is very important in writing copy for the Quill.

Senior Lori Rogerson and senior Scott Denhart, editor, work on making a picture fit Lori's spread.

Photography captures East on film

"Ready: One, Two, click!" This was a common phrase used by the East High photographers and their instructor, Mr. John Lethcoe, when they were busy taking group pictures for either the Scroll Newspaper or Quill Yearbook.

Most East High photographers were either juniors or seniors and had previously taken Photo 1 and 2 and/or Communications Media, with few exceptions.

Throughout the year the talented photographers produced exciting action shots for all the sports events and important assemblies, including the Homecoming and Christmas assemblies. They also took action pictures at most of the major school dances, such as 12-B, Spree and Prom.

For the Homecoming assembly, five photographers were present and ready to capture a piece of history on film. Each photographer was given four rolls of 24-exposure film to use. That meant that there were approximately 480 pictures taken at the Homecoming Assembly alone!!!!

East has had a Photojournalism class since 1974 and it has grown steadily over the years. The Photography Department currently has access to $26,000 worth of photo equipment and is the second best and largest photography department in Des Moines. Central Campus just recently opened a new photography department that topped the highly-ranked East department. Mr. John Lethcoe said, "Anyone who is seriously interested in photo journalism as a career should attend the Central Campus program."

Students in photography were encouraged by Mr. Lethcoe to join and participate in such contests as "Faces of Iowa," "The East Side Library Contest" and "National Scholastic." They were also urged to enter some of their better pictures in the state fair contest.

Sophomore Shannon Hayes entered a picture in the Meredith Competition and won a $50 cash prize and a $50 Purchase prize. The Purchase prize is given when the company buys the picture.

Photographers were required to do many other tasks besides take pictures. After the pictures were taken, they had to be adjusted and enlarged to fit the specifications and spaces on the publication layout (Quill Yearbook and Scroll Newspaper).

Senior Scott Torres said, "Photography is a lot of fun, but also a lot of hard work. Some of my most memorable high school experiences took place in photography."

Senior Jeff Cronin said, "We had our share of both major and minor problems but luckily everything worked out relatively well."

Fearless senior photorapher Jeff Cronin stops at nothing to capture the best possible action-packed shot for the Quill Yearbook. Students could have observed some daring feats by photographers almost everywhere they looked.

niors Byron Schlenker and Richard Atha are busy working on projects for their otography class. The two photographers are in the process of developing some tion pictures taken at a varsity basketball game. Many times the two photographers paired up to work on any projects they had for the Scroll Newspaper and Quill Yearbook. All of the group pictures and action shot for the newspaper and yearbook were provided by the photographers and their instructor Mr. John Lethcoe.

Interesting features boost Scroll

"Interesting." That word captured the look and the content of each Scroll newspaper that was given to East High's student population. Many different issues were covered with good journalism and a little "pizzazz."

"They have taken one page of each Scroll and devoted it to one theme" commented Mr. George Christian, adviser, about the Scroll's feature pages. This page (sometimes two pages) touched on interesting topics that ranged from alcohol to abortion. In the Oct. 11 issue, the front page was surrounded by pictures of past homecoming Queens, dating from 1960 to 1984, commemorating the 25th anniversary of having Homecoming Queens.

On Dec. 13, readers saw the innovative red and green graphics emphasizing the Christmas season. In the same paper the two center pages included some of the best pictures snapped by the photography staff. Religion and a sports feature on the East and Lincoln boys' basketball game graced the Jan. 10 issue.

Editorials written in the Scroll have tended to be more controversial this year than in past years. Movies and area concerts were also commented on by the staff members.

First semester editor-in-chief Rita Conner and assistant editors Paula Bebensee and Chet Sewell set the pace for the format of feature pages and brightening graphics. Second semester editor-in-chief Tim Wheeldon, with assistant editors Jeff Howe and Rita Conner, maintained the pace with some of their own style.

eniors Rita Conner and Tim Wheeldon take a look a finished issue of the Scroll. An average issue contained six pages. The free newspaper was given to all students and faculty during third period. It was distributed at three-week intervals on Friday.

Cheerleaders aim for success in building spirit

"EHS is number one an don't you forget it" ha become a popula cheer not only for ou athletic teams and ou school, but also for the 1985-86 cheerlead ing squads. "Supporting athletic teams an promoting school spirit is the purpose o the varsity sophomore and freshma squads," said the director Mr. Paul Poeh lein. Mr. Poehlein was in his first year a director of the cheerleading squads. H added, "They are the best East High ha ever had, and in my opinion, the best in th state."

The varsity and sophomore squad proved their great cheerleading abilities b bringing home to us during Homecomin '85 first-place ribbons and two first-plac trophies for the grand championshi Senior Paula Bebensee, captain of the va sity squad, said, "We couldn't be happi with this year, everything went great Congratulations, cheerleaders, on you great accomplishments.

Year of changes helps Color Guard

A year of changes, starting with a new squad, a new look and a new sponsor, proved to help the Color Guard over this past school year.

One major change was the look of the squad. While performing with the band during the marching season, they wore red uniforms with boots. During the winter months they wore pants, tuxedo shirts, flats and headbands. New flags were also used, and the traditional short shirt became their spirit uniform.

Another change was a new sponsor. Mr. Chris Thompson came to the color Guard this year with many marching and flag skills. He had 21 years of experience with the Marines, and when he was a teacher at Tech, he sponsored two flag squads called "The Blue Knights" and "The Americans." The two groups won five national championships and 400 trophies in a 10-year period.

The summer of 1985 proved to be a busy time for the Color Guard. Practices were held every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday morning from 6:30 to 8. The practices had one major purpose: practicing marching skills for upcoming parades. The group also attended the Central Iowa Summer Camp in Pella July 17-20. At this camp six members won individual awards.

On July 20, the Color Guard and their drummers participated in the American Legion Parade in Sioux City, where they placed first. Medals were presented to the drummers and the Color Guard on the steps of the capitol on Aug. 14, right before they marched in the State Fair Parade. They were the only Des Moines school to do so.

On Dec. 7, the Color Guard went to State, which was held in Pleasantville, Ia. In this contest the Guard placed fourth while using the music "Rockin' to Paradise," by Styx. On Nov. 23, senior Michele Slifka and junior Bobbi Grother competed in the Miss Iowa Auxilary Drill cont where Michelle took fourth place a Bobbi placed eighth.

This year has been an exciting ye filled with promise. One could say, "T format has been set; greatness will sur follow."

The girls also presented the colors at football and basketball games, and were given the honor of presenting the colors at the State Wrestling tournament March 1 at Vets' Auditorium.

"T.A.D. Rock" (composed by Park, Hudnall and Sparks), "Rockit" and "Valley" were some of the cadences heard at pre-game shows and at the basketball games. Parades would be impossible without the sounds generated by the drums. The squad really benefited from the exciting sound waves sent out by these great guys.

Squad steppin proud; new uniforms

The 1985-86 Steppers were stepping proudly to a new look during the year. This year's squad received new uniforms.

The Steppers started off their year by attending summer camp at Creighton University in Omaha, Neb. During camp they performed a choreographed routine and received a ribbon for being the "most admired team."

This was a very busy year for the Steppers. In October they participated in the State Band Competition, where they recieved a "1" rating. On Oct. 4, the Steppers, Marching Band and Color Guard went to Whitewater, Wis., to compete as one group in the Marching Bands of America Regional Championships, where they placed eleventh. On Dec. 7, the Steppers competed in the Iowa State Drill Team contest in Pleasantville, Ia. There the Steppers participated in the pom and prop and novelty competition.

Choreography, organization, fund raising and discipline were all jobs of the four Stepper Officers; Lynn Workman, treasurer; Shannon Young, administrative captain; Angie Vasquez, choreography captain; Missy Moore, secretary. The success of the 1985 Steppers started here.

Tryouts for the squad were held each spring. After the long and tiring clinics, it was time for the tryouts. After a tough decision, 24 lucky girls made the squad.

Co-captains of the squad were senior Angie Vasquez and Shannon Young; secretary, junior Missy Moore; and treasurer senior Lynn Workman.

That's what seniors Karmen Guy, Lori Hulsebus, Mindy derson, sophomore Heidi Nelson and junior Tricia Vasquez seemed to have on r minds while performing this excellent choreographed routine at the Christmas embly on Dec. 21. This year's squad received new uniforms by simply purchasing them themselves. The Steppers also performed in many other performances throughout the year. Just a few of them were the Iowa State Drill Team contest, and the Marching Bands of America Regional Championships.

Debate team has successful year; team captures second place at Ft. Dodge

The 1985-86 debate team as a whole was very competitive and defeated some of the best teams, such as Valley.

During the year East received a second-place trophy in a tournament at Fort Dodge. The team as a whole led in National Forensic League points. This is a distinguished honor. At the East tournament, three teams qualified for finals. The debaters were Beth Turner, David Primm, Thong Phan-Quang, Ed Little, Chad Cox and Michelle Vallejo. At the Iowa City West tournament, sophomore Ed Little was the top speaker. On March 7, the debate team went back to Iowa City to compete in another tournament. The team performed very well and came only one round away from going to the finals.

The team was strong in individual events. Junior Shelli Cave received first place in humerous interpretation at the East tournament and third at Valley. Sophomore Kim Heiting received honors in both oratory and oral interpretation, and in story-telling to the audience. Kim received second place in the Atlantic and Valley tournaments. Junior Sherry Hutson went to finals at Roosevelt High School.

In Mock Trial only the top debaters were qualified to participate. In Mock Trial, the students act out a trial, and many of them were better than real attorneys. The students develop an understanding of the judicial process.

The members of Student Congress participated in a "mock congress" session, and they wrote bills to be discussed through the legislative debate process. Some outstanding senators were Robert Brants, Kim Heiting and Marie Russell. The debating coach was Mrs. Margaret Faidley.

Concert Band, Jazz Bands work hard

After the marching season was over, the Concert Band came indoors. During the basketball season, Concert Band played for the home games. The kind of music the band used was popular music from earlier years. This made the people who were watching the game enjoy the music.

When spring came, Concert Band traveled to Kansas City, Mo., where they played at Worlds of Fun on April 20 and 21. The Concert Band also performed at the State Large Group Contest, which was held at Valley High School.

This year the Jazz Bands had a busy year. They participated in five contests: The SCIBA Jazz Band Contest, the State Jazz Band Contest, the Hoover Jazz Festival and the Northwest Missouri State Jazz Band Festival. They also played at the Southwe Community College in Creston.

The Jazz Band included 21 talented st dents who practiced at 7 a.m. every mor ing. Jazz Band 2 practiced from 3 to 4 p.m every Tuesday and Thursday. Thes members were outstanding; they we selected by auditions only.

Band captures #1 rating at State

Once again, for the eighth consecutive year in a row, the band received a "Division 1" rating at the State Marching Band Contest, hich was held once again at Williams adium.

Some other contests that the band partiated in were Valley Fest, which was ld at Valley High School in West Des oines, and the Whitewater Regional, hich was held at the University of hitewater in Wisconsin, where the arching Scarlets spent two days and two ghts at the Ramada Inn in Jamesville, is.

The music the band used for the conts, and for football halftimes was mperata Overture," "Tiger of San dro," "Axel F," "Topsy" and "Still." ese songs had major features; for exam-, the Steppers' feature was the song opsy" because it was fast and jazzy. The lor Guard and Drum Lines feature was xel F" because while the drums played, Color Guard had a chance to be precise, accurate and snappy.

The major fund-raisers that the band had over the school year were popcorn sales, cheese-sausage sales and sales of a game the East High Boosters organized called "Trifles." The money earned from the fund-raisers could be used for anything from the annual trip to a new instrument for a band member, or a uniform or a pair of boots for an auxiliary member (Color Guard, Majorette or Steppers). The money earned from the game "Trifles" went toward new uniforms for the band members.

Every band has a Majorette who performs in front of the band. All eyes are upon her as she twirls the baton and does her acrobatic moves. This was Leticia's third year as Majorette.

For Tisha to be as good as she is now, she had to take lessons for three years. She took them at Watson's Dance Studio and at Becky's Dance Studio; both studios are in Des Moines. Tisha was in fifth grade when she began to twirl the baton; that's why she's so good now.

Honor band and orchestra supply beautiful music

Many dedicated and hard-working students found out this year just how much time and effort it takes to be a part of the East High orchestra and honor band.

Orchestra meets every day in the band room during fourth hour. Over a two-year period the orchestra has quadrupled in size. In 1984 it included only 8 members. This year it was made up of 35 members.

The honor band is a group of very select and top-quality band members. This year it included only 6 members. This special band is chosen to participate in clinics and workshops with other outstanding band members throughout the state.

The honor band attended two workshops this year, one on Jan. 25 at Drake University, and the other on Feb. 6 in Pella.

Both orchestra and honor band are directed by Mr. Rex Cadwallader, who has been at East since 1984.

Mr. Cadwallader attended the University of Nebraska, where he majored in instrumental music. He graduated from the university in 1968 and shortly afterwards he began his teaching career. Mr. Cadwallader hopes to one day have a career at a large university. One point he wants students to see is that there is more to music than just playing it.

Scarlet singers sing sweet sounds

The year began with both bigger and better singing groups, Scarlet Choir having over 100 members, and Chorus 1 and Chorus 2 having improved over last year. Mrs. Linda Baker, the teacher of Chorus 1 and Chorus 2, felt that this year was better than last because the members this year were members who decided to return. Chorus 1 and Chorus 2 combined in order to give the people from study hall a chance to get out of something they do not receive credit for and into something they do receive credit for, making it a little easier to graduate.

Scarlet Choir had over 100 members, which really shows the student's pride toward East High's Vocal Music Department.

Chours 1, Chorus 2 and Scarlet Choir performed in a musical revue and also went to many of the transitional schools around Des Moines during the school year.

Even though Chorus is a class which is supposed to help students learn how the voice works and help them learn how to control it and use it to their advantage, Mrs. Baker thought it would be useful and very interesting to teach students choreography, the act of moving in acting form to the music which is being sung either by one student or by a chorus. Even though she had 100 students and not enough space time, she thought that it was well worth students' time. The students in her cl really enjoyed the way in which she tau the class, and how it was put across. Th really recommended the class and wish they could have had more time to le more about their voices and choreograp

Mrs. Baker really enjoyed her job a her students for making her job easier a enjoyable.

This year was a big success, whethe was vocal or instrumental; our pride v shown through the eyes of East Hig "best and brightest."

Concert Choir sings spectacularly, Chamber Singers sing with harmony

Through auditioning by Ms. Linda Chamberlin, vocal director, or recommendations from their previous music teachers, 75 talented people made Concert Choir, a quality performing group which included ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades.

In the late fall, Concert Choir and other groups sang at three transitional schools: Hoyt, Goodrell and Hiatt.

Concert Choir participated in various programs, including a musical revue in February, all-city concert in April at Veterans' Auditorium, and the spring vocal music concert in May. They also attended the Large Group State Contest.

Chamber Singers began the school year by learning their lines for the fifth Annual Madrigal Dinner held in the vocal music room. The Madrigal Dinner took spectators back to the renaissance era, where they became the guests of King Henry, played by senior Kurt Anderson, Queen Anne, played by junior Stephanie Ripley, and the royal jester, played by junior Rob Pierick. The show began promptly at 6 p.m. Dec. 4 and 5.

To make this year's Madrigal Dinner even more spectacular, Chamber Singers added a sorcerer, played by Mr. Ed Peterson, science teacher. They also added a belly dancer!

Besides the Madrigal Dinner Chamber Singers presented a spring musical. Throughout the year Chamber Singers performed in various places such as Heather Manor, Capital Square and the Des Moines Consistory. They also went on an all-day concert tour.

Printing their way into your hearts

Printed visual images and trans-reproduction made through multiple processes—all of this involves the Graphic Arts Department.

The Graphic Arts Department printed calendars, 12B and Homecoming tickets, United Nations applications and the Scroll.

"The program at East High is set up so that the students can learn how the processes of communication work. "I think it will help the students who want to make communications a career," said Mr. Jeff Bock, graphics instructor.

Being in graphics helps students become more aware of the process through which designs are put together.

Attendance, involvement and academic achievement are three areas in which students who wish to be chosen Kiwanian of the month must excell. Prior to the month in which the Kiwanian is to be honored, Principal Barbara Prior and Mr. Don Powell, vice-principal and Senior Class adviser, chose the student to be honored. The eight students honored for the months October through May are chosen from a list submitted by counselors and teachers. The list is always much longer than eight students, so Mrs. Prior and Mr. Powell must make the final selections.

Each Kiwanian attended luncheon during the month chosen every Wednesday at the Savery Hotel.

The Downtown Kiwanis Club and East High School sponsored the Kiwanian of the Month program.

Tracie Moore has the pleasure of being entertained by Mr. Wally Lundgren, a former East High graduate, at one of the luncheons the Kiwanians of the Month attend every Wednesday during the month that they are chosen Kiwanian for. These luncheons are held at the Hotel Savery in Des Moines.

AFJROTC jr. reserves, Attention!

AFJROTC! The Air Force Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps is a three-or four-year program that involves learning leadership skills and assuming responsibility.

The classes met daily and the corps dressed out in uniforms once a week. The curriculum included studies in aeronautical science and military history. Also involved in the program was marching practice, in which they learned to perform in many parades and school functions.

The sponsors, Lt. Col. Marvin Lillie and Sgt. William Butler, stress the fact that they're not trying to recruit students into the military although scholarships are available. Students also have the chance of being selected to attend military academies. If students wish to continue in the military after high school, they may enter the service at a level that is two pay grades higher than someone entering with no AFJROTC experience. College benefits can include up to 75 percent of expenses in aid. It was a great year for AFJROTC.

Active groups improve East's image

"Hi. This is Tina Rose, your Pep 'E' Club President." This voice was often heard during third hour on the intercom. Talking on the intercom was not the only activity of Tina and her fellow officers: Vice-president Tiffany Rice, Secretary Tina Kohlbusch and Treasurer Patricia Sappenfield. Through the year, two of the Pep 'E' Club's major projects were promoting more school spirit and sponsoring the annual Spinster Spree.

The Ambassadors' Club was a new group at East in 1985. Students from tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades were chosen to show visitors around East when needed. There were 12 students involved. The students were chosen from applications and interviews.

A better image, pride, good attendance and a higher level of academic achievement were the four major goals of the Building Climate Committee. With Mrs. Kay Mc Collum supervising the operations of the four groups (Student Involvement, Marketing, Image and Academics), BCC was bound to succeed. Success was achieved, and the 1985-86 Building Climate Committee proved to be a very positive force at East High.

To make the new entering freshmen feel more comfortable was the goal of the Scarleteers. With two sponsors, Mr. John Rudisill and Mr. Ed Peterson, the job was accomplished well. Co-chairpersons Lori Rogerson and Paula Bebensee, seniors, were also very helpful.

U.N. Tour, National Honor Society Model U.N., Close Up Students excel

Excited juniors scrambled onto the buses Friday, March 21, anticipating their arrival in either New York or Washington D.C., as participants on the United Nations Tour.

There were 57 juniors from East selected to go on the U.N. Trip. To be selected, they had to write essays and get recommendations from community leaders and teachers to include in their application.

In New York they toured the Intrepid Airspace Museum, took a Circle Line Ferry Tour around Manhattan and saw the Empire State Building, the United Nations Building, the New York Stock Exchange and the World Trade Center.

In Washington they got to tour the Capitol, the White House, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, and other national monuments and memorials.

The 1985 National Honor Society was sponsored by Mr. John Raymond. To be members of the National Honor Society, students had to be in the top 15 percent of their class and exemplify good scholarship, leadership and service in school and community. Top students were inducted in their junior year.

This group sponsored the Scarlet Standout, an honor which any student could receive if recommended by a teacher. Scarlet Standouts were chosen every nine weeks. Each student chosen was honored with a photograph in the front hall and a certificate.

They also, once again, sponsored turkey cookies around Turkey Day, a breakfast for honor roll students and a pie in the face of a lucky teacher (Mr. Bill Carlson) during the student-faculty basketball game.

Model United Nations was headed by Mr. Stan Thompson, vice-president of the United Nations Association of Greater Des Moines. To get involved, students had to show an interest by going to the meetings at the beginning of the year. They wrote three resolutions which were presented, debated and rewritten on Governor's U.N. Day.

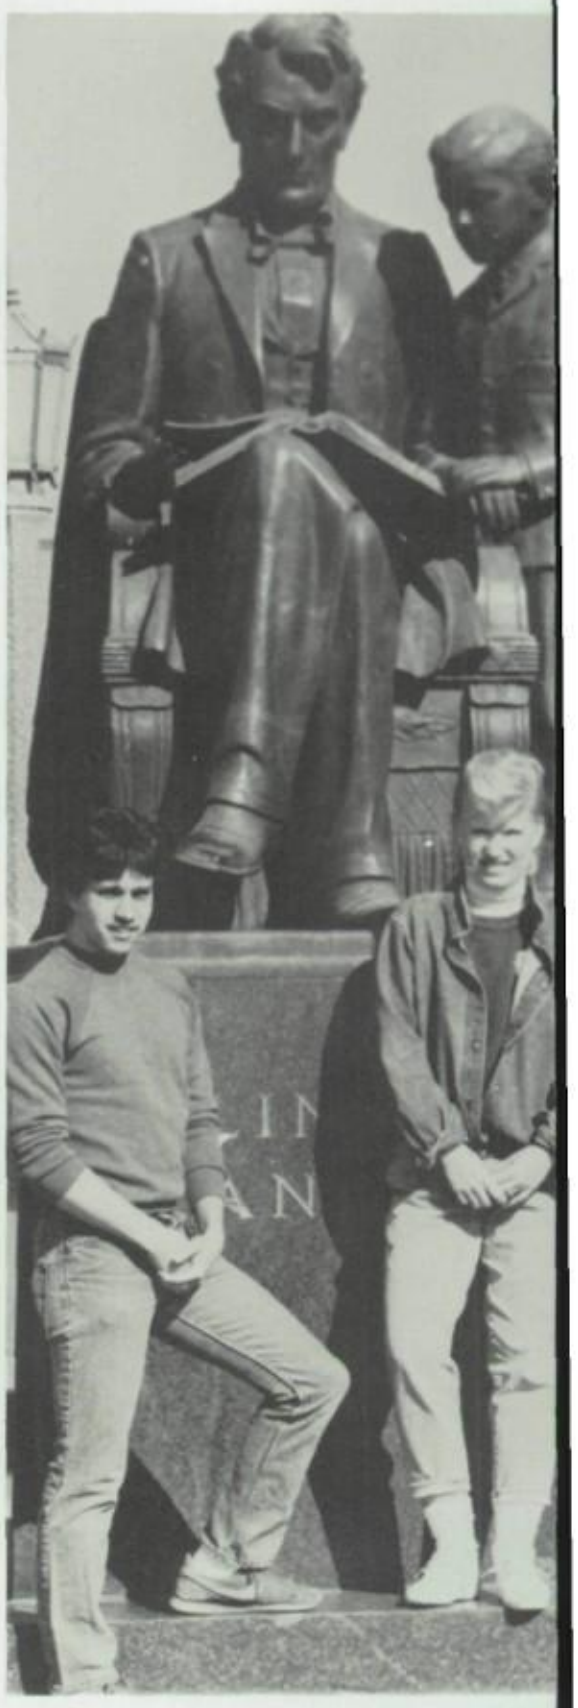
Close Up isn't just a gel to brighten your teeth and freshen your breath; it's also a week long trip to Washington, D.C., to get a better "close up" look at our government and how it is run. Two seniors, Tammy Klobnak and JoAnne Zallek, opted to take this trip. Mr. James Bush also went on the Washington workshop trip.

Before going to Washington they received a book on current issues to give them some differing opinions and backgrounds on issues that were discussed.

Mr. John Phillips helped both girls to raise money for their trip for which they were grateful.



Two seniors, Meredith Williams and Lori Roger from the Model United Nations group, take a s trip to the Capitol to pose for the camera in front statue of President Lincoln.

International Foreign Relationship

"The study of foreign lanuguage is very important, not only because it helps meet the college requirement, but also because it encourages us to understand other people and their cultures, broaden our understanding and teach us. Students who don't take a foreign language are losing an important part of their education," said Mr. Tom Moore, the French teacher who replaced Mrs. Carolyn Wolter in November.

The purpose of the French Club is to promote interest in French culture. Two activities students participated in were attending plays and visiting a French cafe in Omaha, Neb.

Students in Spanish Club learned a lot about Spanish by doing vocabulary, writing it out and saying it orally in conversations or singing it.

Once in a while the students were allowed to have a fiesta in the room. Spanish Club activities also included attending plays, going on field trips and eating in a Spanish restaurant.

Natsuko Futami and Sven Alex were two of East's foreign exchange students.

Natsuko is 16 years old; she lives in Yamanasi, Japan, with her parents. She has two brothers. In her spare time, Natsuko enjoys watching movies, reading books and listening to music.

Sven is also 16 years old; he lives with his parents in West Berlin, in the Federal Republic of Germany. He is an only chil Sven likes to play basketball, soccer an football.

Academic groups, Upward Bound are great challenge

Gifted and Talented is a very prestigious organization, and students were proud to be part of it. To become a member of G/T, a student must possess strong academic skills and the desire to excel beyond the normal classroom requirements. The G/T organization, sponsored by Ms. Anda Liepa, provides these gifted students with opportunities to challenge their skills. Workshops, seminars and advanced college-credit courses are just a few of the many activities that G/T sponsors.

Are solving complex, futuristic problems something you enjoy doing? If so, then you should be a part of East High's Problem-Solving Team. The Problem-Solvers attend bowls. While at a bowl, the students are presented with a futuristic problem; then they are given a certain amount of time to "brainstorm" for solutions to the problem. After the "brainstorm" session, each team presents solutions to a panel of judges for scoring.

An extreme curiosity and interest in science is a quality one must possess if he wishes to be a part of the Science Club.

This past year Science Club members worked very hard to achieve their goal of visiting the Wind Caves in South Dakota. To raise money for this project, the club members sold M&Ms at 50¢ a box. A biology teacher, Mr. Ray Patrilla, sponsored the club.

PTSA, Boosters raise funds for EHS improvements

The Parent-Teacher-Student Association, otherwise known as the PTSA, contributed a lot to East High. The main function of the PTSA is running the concession stand at sporting events. The money the PTSA earns goes to East High to help pay for the freshman folders, supplementary teaching materials and four $750 scholarships for seniors.

What is the East High Booster Club? It is an organization that helps raise money for EHS. The Booster Club is one of the largest in the nation.

Some of the accomplishments of the Booster Club include spending $35,000 on EHS and its students. Some of the money was spent on baseball and softball batting cages, track warm-up suits and financial support for the National Honor Society.

Junior Becky McClurg buys a glass of Pepsi from Mr. Jerry Behrendsen, a member of the PTSA. The PTSA was in charge of the concession stand at East's sporting events. The money the PTSA earns goes to East's principal, Mrs. Barbara Prior, to make the best use the money. One of the things the money was used was repairing East's outdoor signs.

Senior Paula Bebensee has been convinced to buy a T-shirt from Booster Club President Louie Plude and Vice president John Walker at the East-Ames boys' basketball game, as a customer thinks of buying himself one, too. The East High Booster Club is an organization made up of parents, supporters and alumni of E High. The Booster Club was in charge of all athletic and student recognition b quets. The Booster Club spent over $35,000 on EHS.

Ad clubs show, demonstrate, sell

Who helps support the Quill? Who helps reduce the cost of the Quill? ADS, ADS, ADS. When you look t the ads at the back of the Quill, always emember that they benefit you, the buyer of the yearbook. How do you get into the Ad Club? One does not join the club; he or she signs up for a class, the Sales Ad Club. Teaching ad selling takes place in the room, but the students go out into the community to sell the ads to businesspersons. The training includes showing the product, demonstrating the product and selling the product. Those who bought the Quill Yearbook should not forget who reduced the price of the book: the students who sold ADS, ADS, ADS.

School-sponsored committees build future leaders

For all the students out there who wonder how the assemblies are organized and who is responsible for them: read on to find out the answers to all of your questions and many more.

Representatives from different school groups like Steppers, Color Guard, Pep "E" Club, Cheerleaders, Silent Vibrations and Student Government get together annually and plan appropriate assemblies for the school year.

Mrs. Vallery Griffis was the sponsor of the Assembly Committee, and she helped the students make wise decisions on all of the assemblies. The committee usually met on Tuesdays or whenever necessary throughout the year.

If you were in a school-sponsored organization and wanted to participate in the assemblies, all you had to do was to send a representative of your group to one of the Assembly Committee meetings.

Students in Leadership is a group of high school students from all of the Des Moines high schools who meet regularly.

The group's purposes are to encourage leadership skills, to foster better understanding among cultures and to aid in selfawareness.

The East High students were sponsored by Mrs. Kay McCollum and Mrs. Mary Rita Seckington.

Most of the meetings were held at East, but the group also visited Springbrook State Park and the Spaghetti Market for additional meetings.

Students are selected by current members and each must have a teacher recommendation.

Sophomore Stephanie Kerns, senior Tracie Moore, senior Angie Vasquez and senior Michelle Slifka work hard to come up with some clever ideas for an upcoming assembly. They were members of the Assembly Committee.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA) was made up of a group of students who met regularly with their sponsor, Mr. Tom Lutz. They met on Monday nights in Mr. Lutz's room to pray and talk over any problems they might have had.

Students did not have to be athletes or be of a certain religion in order to participate in the club. It was open to anyone.

The Afro Club, sponsored by Mrs. Vallery Griffis, met together twice a month on Tuesdays in room 118.

The group's goal was to create a positive attitude and image toward the Afro-American culture.

Any student was welcome to join the club, but most of the members were of the Afro-American heritage.

The club put on a dramatic presentation of the life of Martin Luther King, and club members delivered fruit baskets to the Logan Mill Community Center for needy and elderly people.

Thanks to the Triple "E" Club (EEE), the north courtyard was made beautiful. The group planted an assortment of bulbs, flowers and bushes in order to beautify the drab and dull area between the main building and the north wing.

The club members met each week in the morning before school with their sponsors, Mrs. Linda Saddoris and Mrs. Donna Christensen. The club sold candy and cheese in order to raise money for the community and for various club projects.

BAC advises; office assistants help

What is Building Advisory Council (BAC)? The BAC is made up of teachers, parents and students who meet monthly to discuss activities and issues that concern East High School. It also gives ideas to the Student Government. How is one selected? The student Government chooses the Student Government representatives, the faculty also chooses representatives and the PTSA (Parent-Teacher-Student Association) chooses parents. When an issue is discussed, its purpose is to better East High.

Did you ever go to the office and see students working? Well, those people were office assistants. What did they do? The office assistants helped the administrators, counselors, advisers and anybody who worked in the office.

How did one become an office assistant? To become an assistant, the student had to have passing grades, have a study hall and have a good attitude.

OEA (Office Education Association). What is OEA? OEA builds skills in useful areas within the business world. Students receive office training and learn to work in schools, insurance companies, department stores, private industries and federal jobs. OEA gives students experience in leading fields and is the stepping-stone to promotions.

OEA is a three-part program which includes on-the-job training. It is a vocational youth program.

Drivers' Ed teachers, part-timers, different groups show involvement

Watch out, world! Another batch of students has accomplished mastering the wheel. Drivers' Education was an elective offered to students second semester if they wished to receive their licenses before they turned 18.

Students saw films, did book work attended lectures and took tests in class. In the simulator they watched films in which they got the chance to apply their acquired knowledge while driving an automobile.

Rarely did one miss class because of the required number of hours needed to pass. Missing a day resulted in a mandatory four-page report which many students could be heard moaning about.

• There were four part-time workers whose hard work and dedication helped to keep East at its best. Mr. Michael Anousis helped collect cans that students purchased from our two pop machines. His wife, Mrs. Eline Anousis, and Mr. Gary Bash worked hard to keep our cafeteria a clean and enjoyable place to eat throughout the four lunch periods. Mrs. Barbara Grother served as a hall and restroom monitor throughout the lunch hours. Their work was deeply appreciated by staff and students.

• To get into Television Production, a student was required to first take the Communication Media course. The first level of TV Production is basically class work. Once the student got to the advanced level, the course became an "independent study" class. Students made videos for teachers and students, and they taped plays and some sporting events. These videos were then critiqued by the class and graded. Mr. Adrian Martin was in charge of this course.

• Coming into its thirteenth year, Silent Vibrations did a fabulous job of using their body language to perform skits. Ms. Ruth Ann Gaines was the sponsor. Some of their humorous skits included "Ricarella" during the Homecoming Assembly. Senior Emmett Butts said, "In mimes you have fun and might even get a part that is really funny, like wearing red tights and a tutu as a fairy!"

• The Sound and Light Crew included seven people. They did the basic sounds and lights for assemblies, sports functions and banquets. Mr. Dave Frost was the sponsor.

• PEOPEL stands for "Physical Education Opportunity for Exceptional Learners." They were peer helpers paired with exceptional learners, who received help through the day's activities in physical education class. Peers also counseled the students during the day when changing classes and during lunch. During second semester more of the kids transferred into regular gym classes.

"Class"ic

Moves

"Class"ic Moves. You saw them all the time. One might have seen the perfect dive at a swimming meet, or the "high fives" as the baseball went over the fence for a home run.

East High had "Class"ic Moves on the basketball court and on the wrestling mats. East High added some new moves in the Sports Department by adding soccer to the Big Red Scarlet Machine.

TRACK

Young girls' J.V. team explodes with talented sprinters

The girls' 1985 track team had an exceptional season. Three school records were broken. The team was also plagued with many injuries. Graduate Alycia Simpson pulled a hamstring in a qualifying meet for the Drake Relays; this downed all hopes of winning the Drake 4 X 400 title two years in a row.

Although the varsity didn't do as well as expected, the Junior Varsity team did an excellent job. They took a first-place finish at Norwalk and placed a strong second at Urbandale. They averaged 47 points per meet.

At state, the girls' 4 X 200 team, which included sophomore Johnelle Edmonds, junior Lisa Edmonds, and seniors Jill Shepard and Nicki Carson, placed a surprising fifth in the meet.

At the sports banquet there were many awards given out. Top freshman performance awards went to Johnelle Edmonds and Jenny Carroll. The award for best in field events went to graduate Marjorie Glynn, and the most-valuable team member award went to junior Lisa Edmonds.

The team really worked hard in 1985 and looked forward to a better performance next year.

Junior Angie Eyerly leaps over a hurdle in a close meet with Ames.

"I feel that track has been a very satisfying experience for me. We have improved each year that I have been here, our team was the best team East has ever had." —Nicki Carson, senior Young boys' team jumps into track, has great year!

Although the boys' track team didn't have as good a year as expected, 6 freshmen, 17 sophomores, 10 juniors and 1 graduate (Levi McGuire) won letters. Levi also broke the metro record in the shot put with a throw of 55'1". Another good performance was a sixth-place finish in the 100-meter dash by junior Brian Calderon. Senior Jeff Cronin, long jumper, had a disappointing jump. He missed state by two feet, but in the Metro Conference he placed a strong fourth.

Coach Don Graves felt that last year should be chalked up as a learning experience because the team was still very young.

The 4 X 800 team, which included seniors Bob Rice and Mike Slifka and juniors Robbie Smith and Greg Tellis, looked forward to shattering the East High School record for that event, a record which hasn't been broken since 1975. The new eight-lane, all-weather track has raised a lot of team spirit.

GIRLS' TENNIS

East sends girl to state for first time in 28 years

The 1985 girls' tennis team improved their record from last year to five impressive victories.

Graduate Tina Moberg, the team's number one seeded player, was the first girl to represent East in the state tournament in over 28 years. Although she lost in the first round, she had a very successful year, losing only two matches.

Mrs. Pat Knott, the team's coach, had this to say about the team: "Our main weakness was our doubles play. Our strength definitely would have to be our singles play."

The team ended its season on a high note with an impressive 10-1 victory over Roosevelt.

The team had very promising talent. Many of the players planned to return for the 1986 season.

Senior Tracy Clark shows off her form by returning a serve from an opponent.

"We had a very good season and with the help of a new assistant coach, we learned a lot as a team. We are all very proud of Tina making it to state. It was a great accomplishment." — Erna Halbur, senior.

The 1985 boys' tennis team had a good year. The returning of last year's players contributed to their victories.

At the Hoover Invitational, John Alton, senior, placed fifth in singes play while junior John Turpen and graduate Eugene Bode placed second in doubles play.

During the Ankeny Invitational, juniors Brad Hiatt and John Turpen placed second in number one doubles and graduate Joe Hayworth, along with senior John Alton, placed second in number two doubles.

The team to beat was Hoover. This was East's closest match, which they lost by a score of only 5-6.

Mrs. Pat Knott, the team's head coach, said the highlight of the boys' team was having three foreign exchange students on the team: Eugene Bode from Holland, Richard Aune from Norway, and Vincente Montojo from Spain. All three are graduates.

John Turpen, junior, said about the team "We had a rebuilding period last year. Our team broke a losing streak and we seemed to be improving a lot. We had to fill the shoes of last year's graduates in order to have a winning season."

SOFTBALL

Scarlets set state record of most innings played at 22

"Blood, sweat and tears" could easily describe the roller-coaster season of the varsity softball team. The hopes and dreams of the team came down to a final game and to the final innings—22 innings to be exact. The mighty Scarlet softball players gave their all for the duration of 22 innings against Southeast Polk in their first game of the Class 2A sectional softball tourney. Head Coach Bob Savage never made a fielding substitution during the game, and senior Dawn Bergis pitched the first, last and every pitch in between for 22 innings.

The game will go down in the state record books for the most innings played in a game for both regular season games and state tournament games. The game smashed previous records of 19-inning games played during the regular season and 17 innings played in state tournament rounds.

Although the Scarlets set a state record, all did not end well; the Scarlets were defeated after a freak play occurred. Sherry Roshek of S.E. Polk led off the 22nd inning with a single. Then, Dawn Bergeson (S.E. Polk) singled and Be Flack was safe on first in a fielder's choice.

Now the controversy. Traci Ferren (S.E. Polk) hit a h grounder to the second baseman, graduate Natali Justiniano, bu Natali was preparing to field the ball, it took a wild bounce an change of direction which placed the ball in short right field, o Natali's left shoulder. It was contested that the ball had hit a ba runner, Betty Flack, en route to second base, but the play was called that way; therefore, it scored Bergeson and S. E. Polk had victory.

Dawn Bergis, senior, also had some very great accomplishme this past year. She was named to the first team of the All Metrop tan Conference Team, the first team of the Central Iowa All-Dist Team and to the fourth team of the All-State Team. Kassie Irw sophomore, and Natali Justiniano w named to the second team All-Met Seniors Lori Anderson, Shawn Boers a Michaele Gallagher and junior Ker Brooks were named Honorable Ment All-Metro.

The girls' varsity softball team a coaching staff would like to express th great appreciation to the Booster Club the new batting cage facilities that the c provided for the team.

"Our season didn't turn out as well as we expected because our goals of going to Fort Dodge to play in the state tournament was not achieved. But we made our mark by setting a state record."—Tammy Doland, junior.

"We had a lot of talent this past year and we played well together. We had a great season in finishing third in the Metro. If we keep up the good, hard work, then we will be great next season." —Linda McMahon, sophomore.

In East High's softball program, there is definitely an abundance of upcoming talented ball players. The Junior Varsity team once again finished with flying colors, by capturing third place in the Metro Conference.

The JV had a successful season in that they were defeated only 6 times in 23 games, three of which were lost by only one run.

The Scarlets possessed a strong team, with many players back from the previous year. As the season progressed, they developed a unity to play together. The development of team unity was a necessity for a successful season for the JV team. Head Coach Mary Bourne taught this unity in order to build East High's future success in softball.

Coach Dave Frost likes to win and that is exactly what he and his girls' softball team did. The freshman girls' softball team had another winning season and the program of frosh softball had only been at East High for two years.

When the girls won, they won big. Their biggest victory scored was against Roosevelt; the Scarlets destroyed Roosevelt by scoring 24 runs and holding the Riders to zero.

The frosh were led in pitching by Julie Cronin, an eighth grader. At the plate, they were inspired to score by Dawn Harmon, who blasted home runs in several games.

The building blocks to the future of East High's softball program were put together through the success of these underclassman softball teams. The future is bright.

VARSITY BASEBALL

Striding effort

How do you win a game? What does it take to be an outstanding team? EFFORT, EFFORT, EFFORT!!! This word describes the 1985 baseball season. In the '85 season there were many close games, because of EFFORT. When Coach Chuck Sutherland was asked what the hardest game of the season was he said, "They were all tough." He could not pick out any certain game, because they were all good games.

Asked if he has ever felt pressure in a game he said, "The Lincoln game. We were in the district finals. At the start of the game we took an early lead, 3 to 0. In the ninth inning Lincoln hit for two runs. It was a real uptight game." The team won 3-2.

Another highlight was beating Dowling two out of three games. It was the first time the Scarlets have done this to Dowling.

When you talk about the 1985 Scarlet baseball team, do not forget the word "EFFORT".

"We had a very great season, but many disappointments. We hope to bring another state victory to East. We will be bigger and better in '86."—Rick Sweet, senior.

Small Wonders

Small and powerful. From 18 players down to 10. The 1985 sophomore baseball team was small and kept getting smaller. They were so small that they had to bring up freshmen to have a complete team. Although they were small, the team was powerful and played to its best ability.

The most memorable game was played against Dowling in a double-header. The Scarlets played hard and kept the game close until the eighth inning. It was a come-from-behind win by one single run. Tim Graeve, junior said, "It was a memorable game because we all wanted it so badly."

UNDER PAR

Parring to future

What is a wood? What is an iron? These are the tools used to play the game of golf. It takes time and patience to be a good golfer or a good golf team. That's what was missing on the girls' golf team. The team consisted of freshmen and sophomores. When Mr. John Schnoor, coach, was asked why his team was poor this year, he said, "We were inexperienced and young." But experience is a stepping stone to the future.

How do you become a good golfer? It takes time and experience. Most of the boys' golf team members were returnin letterwinners. Although their record didn' show it, it shined through on some ver close tournaments. Jon Morelock-senio "We were not up to par or very expe rienced, but we continued to give them run for their money."

"We were inexperienced and young. We had a tough year but still had good high points. Being inexperienced will help us grow as a team, not as individuals. We will be better next year."—Michelle Garrett, junior.

"When you have a small team, you don't tend to do as well as expected. We hoped to have a big team but were disappointed. We plan to do better next year." —Brad Bellis, senior

Coach Bill Carlson

Carlson is back, leads the mighty Scarlet machine

He's back, bigger than ever. Yes, Mr. Bill Carlson has returned to East High School.

Mr. Carlson was the quarterback for East in 1959 and 1960, and he also played basketball and baseball for East. An academic leader, he finished in the top 15 percent of his class.

After high school, Mr. Carlson went to Central College in Pella, Ia. He majored in mathematics and also became first-string quarterback midway through his sophomore year. Mr. Carlson has become a math teacher at East, as well as East's football coach.

After college Mr. Carlson coached for three high schools: Belle Plaine, Ia.; Estherville, Ia.; Council Bluffs Ia., at Thomas Jefferson. He racked up a record of 96 wins, 61 losses and 4 ties. While at Belle Plaine, Mr. Carlson had one undefeated season and four championship teams.

Mr. Carlson had always wanted to coach the East High football team. When he found out that the head coaching job was open, he became excited, but he went about obtaining the job cautiously. It took him only two seconds to say "yes" when Principal Barbara Prior asked him to coach for East. He enjoys waking up in the morning because he looks forward to coming to East.

Mr. Carlson has one goal for East High, and that is to develop a program that Lee Township, school supporters and East High School can be proud of. We hope he accomplishes it.

NEW PIGSKIN

THE NEWS

Carlson brings new spirit to Scarlet team

And now for the news. East High football received the news: new uniforms, new style and most of all, a new head football coach Mr. Bill Carlson. It is like a new style given to East; they worked as a team. "The season didn't go as well as expected, mainly because of all the new plays and systems, but we adapted ourselves very well," Coach Carlson said. Although the Scarlets didn't have a winning season, they did have a few good moments. "The high point of the season was winning our season opener; we had three weeks to get ready and we pulled through. It gave us a feeling of support," said Coach Carlson about the high points of the '85 season. The team had many strengths. "We had great depth at running back, and a solid kicking game, but most of all, we had receivers who could catch the ball," said Coach Carlson.

"It taught me a lot, not just about football but also about sportsmanship," said Larry Young, senior.

"It was good that the administration brought someone in young enough to build his program. It's good to have someone not from the Metro area; it gives us a chance to expand our ideas."
Assistant Coach
Ric Powell

"We had an overall good season; getting a new head coach gave us a whole new program. We built some new ideas that will help. look for East to have BIG plans."—Les Stephen, senior

THE BUILDERS

Sophs/frosh build for future

Building and improving. This is what the '85 sophomore football team did. They were a team that improved on the skills of the game more than on power. It was a season on how to improve and to be better players.

When Coach Martin Mohler was asked to describe his team, he said, "It was team players, with no individual stars. A team's success is not measured by wins or losses; it is a team effort. We worked for the future and learned how to be better football players."

When you have a team with no individual stars, you have a team where everyone is a star. It is always going to be a sport to be played by a team not an individual so when you go to talk about the '85 sophomore football team, use the words "team effort."

"We played and practiced to better ourselves as players of the game of football," said John Murphy, sophomore.

"We had a very decent season, although we didn't do as well as expected. It was a building season; it helped us grow as a team for varsity, and it gave us experience."—Ken Burgess, sophomore.

"We had a very disappointing season; we felt we became better as we progressed during the season. This season gave us a chance to build our selves physically and mentally."—Bill Torres, Freshman.

CROSS

1985 girls' cross-country, best in East High's history

This year's 1985 girls' cross country team was the best ever. There were several good performances. In the individual classes, the top freshman was Dorie Hammer, who had a fast time of 13:31. The top sophomore was Johnelle Edmonds with a time of 12:56. The top junior was Lisa Edmonds with a time of 13:40.

Jennifer Fuller, senior was the top runner of the team; she had a fast time of 12:21, which she ran at the Metro Conference meet to place second. Fuller was the third girl ever to go to state in East High history.

At districts, the girls ran a two-mile course made up of hills and bridges; freshmen Dorie Hammer and Sherry Grother, sophomore Johnelle Edmonds and senior Jennifer Fuller put this course through a test. This team as a whole missed state by 3 points. The team really worked hard and everyone improved her time.

Sophomore Shirley Ramos sprints to stay ahead as she competes in the Newton Invitational.

"We had a lot of people out this year, and that's what made our team so successful. Next year we are going to win state and I'm sure everyone will work extra hard to make it possible."—Laurel Jensen, senior.

JV, frosh squads show improvements while demonstrating great team effort

The girls' junior varsity volleyball team topped off a good season by winning the junior varsity metro volleyball tournament.

Good athletic skills were possessed by every team member. The team worked well together and they never gave up. They came back from being down many times, thus making the players more confident of themselves.

Stephanie Rogness received top serving honors. Kim Heiting was the top spiker, percentage wise. The top serve-receiver was Michelle Paterson.

In the second year of the freshman volleyball program, there was a good turnout. The girls got a chance to learn the basics and gain experience.

The team had its ups and downs, but as the season progressed the team improved. The match record for the freshman volleyball team was 4-6. The team's ability wa better than their season record indicate Team leaders were Tracye Ainsworth an Laurie Rogers.

Beating Roosevelt at the end of the sea son proved to be their best and mo improved game. Roosevelt had just wo the freshman volleyball tournament an the girls were up for this game. The played this game to the best of their ca abilities and demonstrated a great tea effort.

Head Coach Mary Bourne said, "It's fu to work with freshmen because the game such a new experience and they improv every day."

"The team put forth a lot of effort and it paid off; we won the JV metro tourney. We worked well together and played to the best of our abilities. It was a fun season."—Kerrie Brooks, junior.

V-ball Mania

Improved team comes from behind to beat Dowling squad

Having nine returning players, the girls' olleyball team had the needed experience o achieve an improved record. According o Coach Mary Bourne, the team's greatest trengths were their hustling on the court nd their serving abilities. However, the eed for more blocking and attacking roved to be two of their weaknesses in arious matches.

Their best game came against Dowling. he team came back from being down one in, compared to Dowling's two wins, and nded up beating them. The volleyball layers became more confident of their thletic abilities. The highlight of the season as their advancement in the champion-ip bracket of the metro championship ournament, which was the first in a long me.

The team co-captains were seniors awn Bergis and Lori Anderson. Top serv-g honors went to Dawn Cameron. The ading spiker was Tammy Doland. Receiving the top serve-receive honors was Linda McMahon. Dawn Cameron was selected by the coaches as the "player of the year." Tammy Doland and Dawn Cameron were chosen as first-team all-metro performers. Lori Anderson, Dawn Bergis and Linda McMahon were honorable-mention performers.

Head Coach Mary Bourne commented, "I think that volleyball is one of the greatest games because the interest, enthusiasm and the number of people playing it increase every year."

"Our team played well together and we reached a few goals we had set. We had a tough season, but we worked hard. We made improvements in each game."—Lori Anderson, Senior.

METRO CHAMPS

Dream season for boys' basketball; state tourney berth

The dream season was something to behold. The goals, the reams and the expectations of a team united since their junior high hool days were finally achieved. An undisputed Metro crown was on two years in a row because of the team's superb playing style nd desire to win. A state tournament berth was won this year, with 70 to 57 victory over Marshalltown, which nally reduced the pain felt over the heart-eaking loss to Dowling in double-overtime st year.

The road to state for the Scarlet boys egan with flying colors, as the Scarlets were ted number one, in the Class 3A poll, by he Des Moines Register. The road was long nd hard. Not one opponent gave up easily. very Friday night, a showdown was ready take place. Because the Scarlets were nked number one, every team wanted the glory of knocking them f the top of the polls. The boys managed to do more than live up to eir top rank by defeating all of the teams in the Metro Conference marginal scores and destroying the non-conference foes that they ced. Only one defeat has marred the dream team's record, but after is defeat the Scarlets fought even harder. In their final three games, e Scarlets out-scored their opponents 222 to 141.

Another major part of the season was the fans. Scarlet fans packed every gymnasium to capacity and created such a rivalry with Dowling that the two clashes between the teams were played at Veterans' Memorial Auditorium to handle the enormous crowd. With the team's first step on the floor, the Scarlet crowd, bathed in their spirited red and black, always let out a rumbling roar. Every step of the way, the crowd was supportive and cheered the team on to many victories.

"Playing together since 7th grade has helped us during our season. Our team has a real sense of unity. Being such good friends had a lot to do with going to state. I hope the dynasty continues."--Mike Pavon, senior.

But the major reason for the success of this year's team was the experience and closeness of the players. The boys were a team and not a group of separate individuals. Each one knew what he had to do to win, whether it was to be a starter and stay consistent or to come off the bench and make the shots and play the defense that was needed. The unity that the team possessed was the spark that ignited the fire in the team's attitude and desire to win. Coach Chuck Sutherland commented on this: "They (senior players) were a very close-knit group, and they have been the major nucleus of their junior and senior teams."

The battle at the top has been long and hard, but the mighty Scarlets continued to fight to uphold their top rank in the state tournament.

BASKETBALL

Scarlet girls' five-on-five b-ball: new beginning

This year's team really improved throughout the season. The change from six-on-six to five-on-five was not a major change, but leg strength was very important because of all the strenuous work involved in running up and down the court in the transition game.

The season got off to a slow start, with the Scarlet girls losing their first five games. Good defense was the main goal for the Scarlet girls' team in the second half of the season; that's what led them to their victories over second-ranked Hoover and fourth-ranked Dowling in the Metro Conference.

In the last five games, underclassmen's talent really showed, with sophomore Stephanie Rogness and freshman Dorie Hammer leading the team in scoring. Senior Lori Anderson was named to first team all-conference, and senior Jill Shepard was given an honorable mention. These are just two of the seniors who won't be returning next year.

Shawn Boers, who is also a senior, was a big part of the team with her outstanding defens rebounding.

Letterwinners were seniors Shawn Boers, Lori Anderson, J Shepard; juniors Dawn Cameron, Lisa Edmonds, Kelly Gu sophomores Cyndi Henderson, Jenny Carroll, Stephanie Rogne and freshman Dorie Hammer.

At the season's end the team had learned to work together really function as a team. With most of the varsity squad returni next year, the Scarlet girls will be a hard team to beat. This was t first year of five-on-five, and the year was chalked up as a learni experience. The girls are looking forward to another successful ye

Even though the Scarlet girls placed a strong fifth this year in t Metro Conference, next year's goals are to win the Metro Conf ence championship and bring home a state tournament trophy.

The last team to go to the state tournament was the 1979 tea they placed second in the tournament. The 1979 team also won t Metro Conference title. The seniors were a big part of the team t year and will be missed. Next year's team will be one of the young in recent history, with only two seniors returning to the squad to le six juniors and some sophomores.

"Although our record didn't show it, we put in our share of hard work and dedication. The switch to five-on-five was very interesting and beneficial to those going on to college to play. I feel I was privileged to participate." --Jill Shepard, senior.

Improvements:

Sophomore boys' basketball team show it throughout the season

When asked what was the highlight of the sophomore boys' basketball season, Coach Jerry Hall commented, "Seeing the big improvements from the beginning of the basketball season to the end, and winning the games played against Cedar Rapids Regis, Ankeny and Hoover."

With more players than the previous year, the East High sophomore boys' basketball team included 4 managers and 15 players. Each player practiced hard, and with the help of the Assistant Coach Bill Jacob, they were able to break down into smaller groups for drill practice. The players practiced at East's small gym. They started off with warm-up drills and then they broke into an offense or defense group for a small drill and then into a whole group. Coach Hall considered the ability to do man-to-man defense to be the team's greatest strength.

Their dedication and hard work paid off. Voted as the "most improved" player was Raye Booker. The two most outstanding offensive players were Dusty Sheets and Matt Mikesch. Scott Brown was voted as the most outstanding defensive player. Dusty Sheets was the leading scorer, and Chad Ira was the leading rebounder.

The team's greatest asset was its defense. The two games with Dowling were the most difficult games played, while North was considered to be the easiest.

"The team was determined and worked hard. We had a great season. I learned a lot and got a lot of experience. I think we will do pretty good as varsity." — Matt Mikesch, sophomore.

Basketball team adjusts with enthusiasm to new change ophomore Heather Bearsley dribbles the ball into ast's court while looking for a shot.

The East sophomore girls' basketball team started the season with two great victories, one against East Waterloo, one against Lincoln. The girls' sophomore basketball team's greatest assets were their teamwork and effort.

Their main weakness was that they were a small team. A great strength was that they played as a team. There were 11 players on the team and all 11 players played. This was the second year for both the coach and the team members to play five-on-five.

Their most difficult games were the two one-point games they lost to Lincoln by a score of 52-53 and Hoover by a score of 44-45. The girls' sophomore basketball team showed a lot of enthusiasm and had tremendous determination.

The leading scorer was Angie Sease and the leading rebounder was Tracey McLeod. When asked who was the most outstanding player on the team, Coach Dave Frost commented, "All 11 girls contributed to the team. There was no one outstanding player because each player contributed to the final outcome of each game."

Despite having an 8-10 season record, the sophomore basketball team had a great season, even though they didn't play as well as they expected. With the new knowledge and experience of playing five-on-five, the girls should do well playing for the varsity team.

"We had a fun and enthusiastic season. Five-on-five was a big change, but we enjoyed it more than six-on-six. We had a good team attitude toward one another." —Tracey McLeod, sophomore.

FRESHMAN

Girls' A, B teams successful in capturing metro title

Ms. Cathy Erickson, the head coach of the girls' freshman basketball team, had one of the best seasons ever with this year's freshman girls. Coach Erickson felt that the girls had a lot of enthusiasm and hustle, and that they worked together as a team. The lack of strong outside shooting was a weakness of both the A and B teams.

The A Team's highlight of the season came in the game against Dowling. East was behind by a score of 20-6 at the half and came back 33-32, beating Dowling.

With an A Team record of 11-2 and a B Team record of 10-1 the team included 25 girls altogether and they will definitely improve in the years to come.

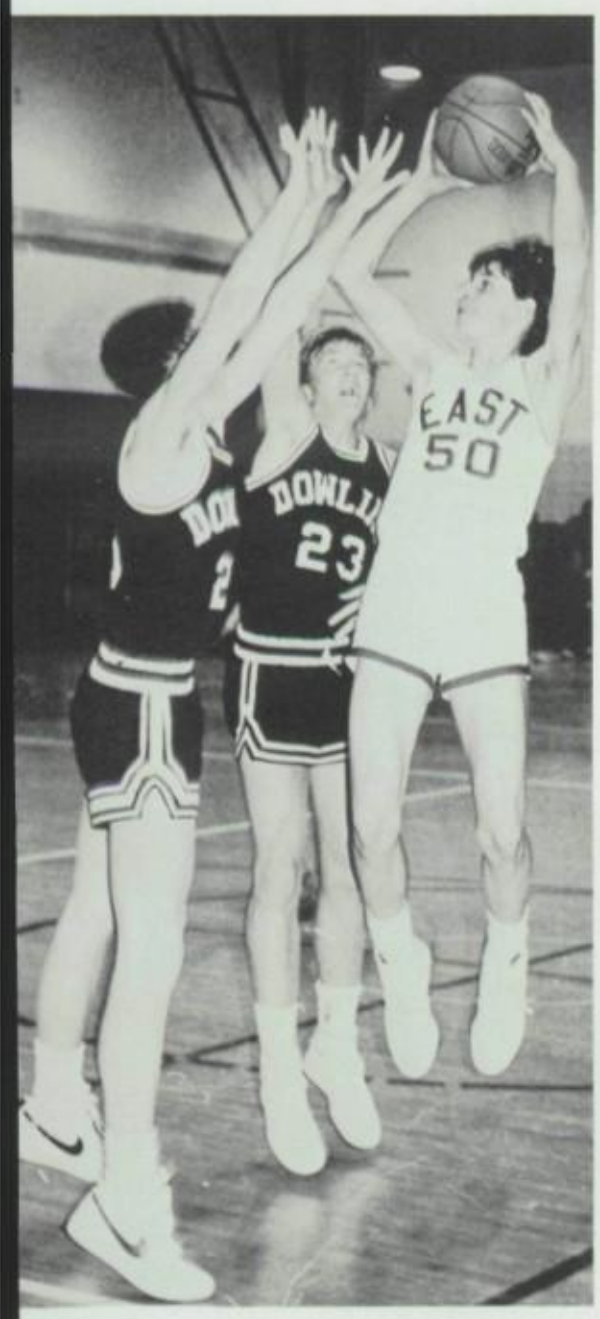
BASKETBALL

Disappointing season doesn't tarnish boys' confidence



Freshman Bill Reed takes advantage of his strong vertical jump shot to score two points.

The freshman boys' basketball A team, led by Coach Ric Powell, and the B team, led by Coach Joel Caldwell, started out with 45 young men. The coaches do not cut players from the squad. They divide them into two teams: the "A" and "B" teams. After many tough practices, the coaches had 28 boys remaining (17 quit); these were their teams for the remainder of the season.

The A Team's highlight of the season was its final game in the Urbandale Tournament against Johnston: they won 77-54. Their most difficult game was against North, when they won 46-44 on a last-second desperation shot.

When asked what both teams' strengths and weaknesses were, Coach Powell commented, "Our strengths were in our defense, our hustling and our full-court presses. Our weaknesses were definitely in our shooting."

The team members had a lot of height and are sure to be a threat to opponents in the future. Even though their record was not very impressive, the determination and "never-quit" attitude helped keep the team together and their spirits high.

"We didn't have such a good record, but we were improving every game. It was a great learning experience for me, and with a little work and school spirit, we'll have a better season next year." —Bill Reed, freshman.

SWIMMING

Wanted: More freshmen for future

"They worked as a team." That was how the boys' swim team coach, Mr. Ken Gaeth, described this year's swim team.

Records don't mean a thing; it is performance that counts. Although the Scarlets didn't have a good record, they performed like a well oiled machine. "As a team we worked and performed the best we could, but the bad meets were due to sickness and injuries," said Coach Ken Gaeth.

"We had a lot of kids returning to the team, but I was disappointed by the number of freshmen that turned out; I was expecting a much larger number than we had," said Coach Gaeth, commenting on those who returned.

The Scarlet swim team was made up mostly of seniors. The team will have a building season next year to replace the seniors that will be lost. The team had some very impressive seniors, like David Wright, who went to state and finished twelfth in the state. He went on to set two new school varsity records for the 50 and 100 freestyle.

"Next year we expect a greater season, mostly because we have a lot of young kids returning to the team. We are going to concentrate on getting a much bigger turnout of freshmen." said Coach Gaeth, about next year's team.

"They worked as a team," he said.

"We had a very fulfilling season, although we didn't do as well as expected. The team will have to rebuild next year to fill the spots of the seniors who will be leaving." —Brian Ayersman, senior.

GYMNASTICS

A combined team of East and Lincoln proves beneficial

The gymnastics team this year included not only East High girls, but also included five girls from Lincoln who joined the team. East and Lincoln merged this year for two major reasons: number one, the Lincoln coach quit, and number two, the metro teams were too small. The merger worked out well, and the team members seemed to adapt well. Roosevelt and Hoover also merged.

The head coach on the squad was Mrs. Joyce Vickroy, and her assistant was Mrs. Joyce Smith. The captain was senior Michaele Gallagher, and the managers were seniors Tim Stoll and Jeff Shepherd. The team included 13 girls, with six freshman, four sophomores, two juniors and two seniors.

The toughest meet the team faced during the season was held in Ames; the team was told that the meet would start at 7:30 instead of 7:00, but when they arrived, they had already missed one event, because the coach of the Ames team had gone on as scheduled at 7. Later that night the Ames coach realized that the meet was really supposed to begin at 7:30, just as the East team had been told. The Ames team apologized to the East team, and let them make up the event that they missed, but they didn't get a chance to properly warm up, so they didn't do as well as they should have.

Senior Micheale Gallagher continued to compete at regionals, and placed fifth in vault. She also missed going on to state by .05 points on the uneven bars. The state gymnastics meet began on March 15.

"This year we had a young team. I think, in the future, they will improve and mature, and East High School gymnastics will probably become dominant." —Tracy Clark, senior.

RIDING TOUGH

Scarlet wrestlers travel down the long road to state

The 1985-6 wrestling season was a season of individual stand-outs. The team record may not have shown it, but it was evident that the team excelled in individual records. The team was at it's strongest at tournaments. They placed second in the Audubon Tournament, one of the toughest in their schedule. The team missed first place by only two-and-a-half points.

The team was coached for the second year by Mr. Gary Rourke. The junior varsity was coached by Mr. Rich Bright, and the freshmen were coached by Mr. Bob Carmichael. Their managers were Pam Wilson, senior, Becky McClurg, junior, and Anna Grandstaff, sophomore.

At the district tournament, the team did especially well, sending three qualifiers to state. They were Kevin Hilsenbeck (138 pounds), junior, Trent Lumley (126 pounds), junior, and Toby Knoop (super heavy-weight), junior. Other teammates did well in the tournament. Rick Dennis (132 pounds), senior, and Kevin Huck (98 pounds), junior, won third place in the district tournament, missing the chance to go to state by only one place. All three qualifiers were defeated in the first round of the state tournaments, but the chance to go to state was one that comes only to the strongest.

"This year's team had a good season, and with Coach Rourke's training and coaching, the team will continue to grow stronger in future years." —Jeff Hodson, senior, varsity wrestler at 119 pounds.

This year the wrestling team sold raffle tickets for a microwave oven and a video cassette recorder; these were raffled off at a dual meet. The team also raised money by the use of the juice machine, which was kept full by the members of the wrestling team. With the money the team earned from selling raffle tickets and from the juice machine, they purchased a new wrestling mat, which was used in dual meets and also at the state tournament held at Veterans Auditorium from Feb. 27 through March 1.

Coach Rourke looks forward to a very strong season next year, since this year's team was made up of juniors; the team was one of the strongest that the school has seen in a number of years.

MANAGERS

The people who help pave the way for East High sports

Manager Scott Winslow, junior, helps repair an injury for boys' basketball player Brad Hiatt, junior.

All of this year's teams would have had a difficult time without the help of their managers.

These valuable people were an asset to every sport here at East. You could see them wrapping ankles and knees at football games, giving ice packs to players during basketball games and handing out the water for their players in all the sports.

They also handed out equipment, gave their teams moral support and were there to take care of the many injuries that occurred during the games.

If it hadn't been for those people, the players wouldn't have been able to have such a good year in all the sports.

'THE NEW SPORT'

Des Moines area schools play soccer for first time

For the first time ever, soccer became an official sport at East High School. The year 1985 was the first year, soccer was played by all Des Moines area schools except Ames.

Last season, the soccer team was divided into two teams, the varsity team and the junior varsity team. Both teams had about the same number of players. Also, some of the JV players played on varsity.

Although this team was young, they were hard working. Some players who worked especially hard were Tom Kaut, Bob Rice and Steve Rowley. These players were chosen for the all-conference team, a very prestigious honor for a soccer player.

Other players who won awards were Deon Slemp, who was voted "most valuable player" of the year by the team. Lonnie Payton and Sara Conner were both awarded the coaches' award, which was given to inspired, hardworking individuals.

In July, 1985, the soccer team had a sports banquet, which was held at Grandview Park. During this banquet, 32 people earned letters, and the most valuable player award and the coaches' award were distributed.

During the soccer season, most of the games were played at Goodrell Transitional School. The team had two out-of-town games, which were played at Urbandale and Ankeny. A change for the 1986 season will be the playing of games at Williams Stadium.

Last season's Coach Greg Holland said, "I am looking forward to coaching the soccer team in future years. It is young, with a good nucleus of fine players and super individuals. I am confident that next season's team will show a great deal of improvement over last year's team."

"The new sport" has definitely proved to be just that. Played by all Des Moines area schools except Ames, soccer has proved to be the most successful game of the year.

"The team had a lot of talent, but our coaches needed some experience with the sport. Now that they have it, next year's season will be more successful than last year." —Bob Rice, senior.

In the past 80 years, man has learned more about flight than in all previous recorded history.

Man's pioneer flights were made in balloons. Then, more than 100 years after those first flights, Orville and Wilbur Wright made the first successful flight in a heavier-than-air mechanically propelled airplane at Kitty Hawk, North Carolina, on December 17, 1903. In the years that followed, we progressed from piston-drivin to jet-propelled aircraft . . . from small rockets to satellites, to space vehicles that carry men to the moon and return them safely. And we've only seen the beginning. Tomorrow will bring even more sophisticated aircraft and the challenge of space shuttle flights. Air Force Junior ROTC can teach you more about man's heritage of flight and the future facing us. Our Aerospace Science program will help you explore civilian, industrial and military aspects of aerospace and will help you become a leader—self-reliant and self-disciplined.

AIR FORCE
JUNIOR ROTC

To be eligible to enroll, you must be a U.S. citizen, physically fit and at least 14 years of age.

Talk with your friends, and your parents. IF INTERESTED, contact your counselor, Lt/Col Lillie, or Sgt. Butler.

PRIDE

It's a feeling of accomplishment. Accomplishment in learning, in making friends and knowing the years spent at East High have been the very best.

PRIDE

It demands the hard work and support of everyone. This total commitment has carried East to the pinnacle. And it is this same commitment that will keep East High No. 1.

PRIDE

Iowa Power also shares this.

PRIDE

in the many East High programs and their participants.

PRIDE

in the student body.

PRIDE

in the community, and

PRIDE

in our continuing alliance with East.

The students of East are the leaders of tomorrow. Leaders who will someday serve in government, business and the community. As the journey into the future becomes reality, Iowa Power will also be there.

The mover people talk about. Nicely.

Talk about service! As one of the largest movers, Wheaton is large enough to do the job with modern, fully-equipped vans ... expert packing ... experienced drivers. Yet we're small enough to do it right. Our customers are our best advertisements. Talk with someone who has moved with Wheaton.

ever possessed in East's history. And the will always be #1 to those at East High Schoo

The Scarlets' berth in the State Championship Tournament brought together a community based on the spirited support of a school of champions--East High.

The Scarlet's first opponent was Metro rival Hoover, which the Scarlets defeated by a margin of 85 to 64. The Scarlets then faced a hot outside shooting team, the Bettendorf Bulldogs. The Bulldogs pulled ahead of the Scarlets early, but East did not give up. The Scarlets came back from a 20-point deficit to within 7, but time ran out and the Scarlets fell short

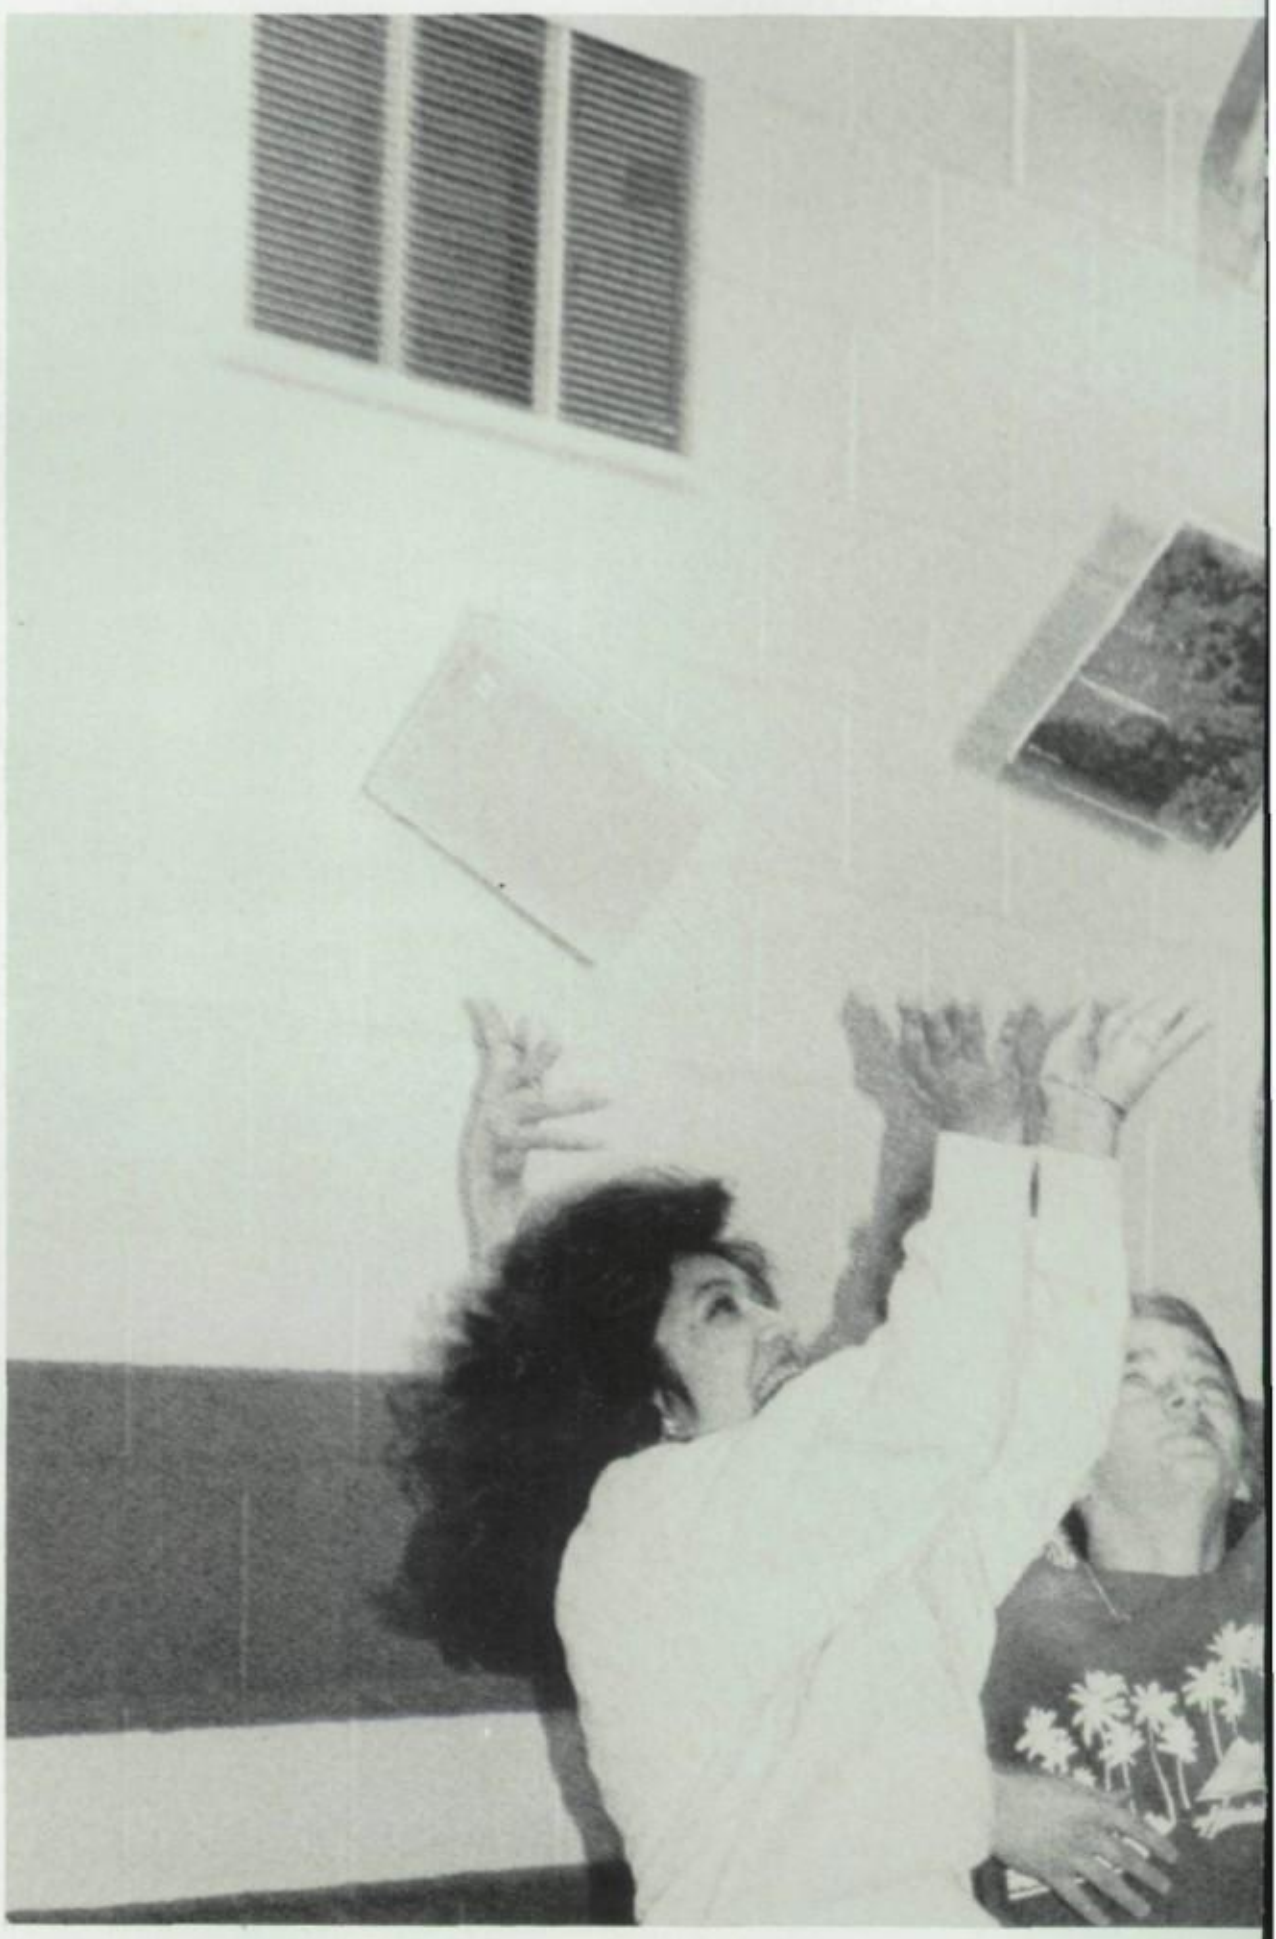
Throughout the 1985-6 school year, East High demonstrated it was a "class" act. From the many different activities to the student body itself, we showed the "class" act we truly were.

After "class," students were seen participating in a myriad of clubs, groups and organizations ranging from the Science Club to Student Government. "Class" action after school hours was performed in the form of many different activities that spanned the entire year.

Homecoming was the first of the major dances that graced the year's calendar. Football games saw jampacked stands in support of the Scarlet team. Basketball games were also crowded with red and black at home and away. The 12-B Formal was upon us, and before we knew it, Spree was behind us. The end of winter was signaled when Spring Break came. Prom lit up the social scene in May in preparation for the graduation ceremonies to held on June. 1.

Some "class"ic moves were made by East against their various athletic opponents this year. The real "class" act was the class itself.

Now, "class" is out. Graduation will come and go. The halls and classrooms will empty. But one thing will never leave; the "class" of our own East High School.



Seniors Angie Vasquez, John Hoskins, Brad Bliss, Chet Sewell and Dawn Bergis throw their books now that "class" is out!

"Class" is out

Seniors Steve Thomas and Shawn Boers walk down the front steps of the main building, proudly donning their newly acquired "caps" used in graduation.

Kristy,

Well you know this is going to be a long one! I can't believe we're almost graduates! Ever since we started softball you've been a pal - who else would play catch with a dutz like me? When you were in Indianola a part of me went with you, and I hope you never do that to me again. We've been too much to not be friends. You're more than a friend and closer than a sister. We're so close that we are two separate people, we are one and the same.

Love Ya Hon!

Kristy-
Well, another year is coming to an end. After you moved I didn't think I'd ever see you again, I'm glad that you came back. You're the only person out of the "little group" who hasn't changed at all, and that means a lot to me. Thanks for being such a good friend. You're a great girl, stay the same always. Kristy,
You are such a sweet girl. I'm glad you came to camp when you did. I missed next year when one of us couldn't come back. Have a great summer and I hope to see you next year.
Love,

To Kristy
We're friends now and we'll always be. Even though we were a couple of nuts
we did have people
that loved us!
